THE EDITOR SAYS—

Sergeant Mack Jackson, of the regular army now stationed at Warrensburg, Mo., was a Sikeston visitor the 3rd and 4th. It will be remembered Jackson was stationed in Sikeston for four years some years ago.

When Edith Rosen was paid only 25 cents for eight and one-half hours work in a Cleveland factory, she complained to NRA officials. On orders, her employer paid her $2.16 more. "What burned me up," she said, "was the fact that they put me to work sewing Blue Eagle emblems on neckties."

There has been considerable going on in Sikeston the week besides the celebration of the 4th and the dedication of the air field. A white man got a black eye from a blind man; one young man hit another over the head with a bottle; a married woman pulled the hair and smacked the face of another woman; a girl smacked the face of another girl for making an unkind remark of a girl friend; an officer locked up a stranger for pulling off a little whoopee and took a drunk home and put him to bed after he had smashed the glass out of a door. None of these cases appear on the police docket, therefore no names and particulars.

Germany, who has always bragged on her "kultur," has of late resorted to legalized murder to put out of Hitler's path any who disagreed with his way of thinking. Germany's treatment of the Catholics and Jews shows that she is fast disintegrating.

The Jack Lancaster beer license having expired, same will not be renewed, and the H. & L. Drug Store, formerly Dudley's, will serve only soft drinks over the counter to their customers. With soft drinks only, L. Ben Miller's best grade of ice cream, this will be a favorite place for those who do not drink beer.

The celebration on the 3rd and 4th and the dedication of the Sikeston airport were days never to be forgotten by Southeast Missourians. Perhaps never again will our people have the pleasure of seeing so many planes on our field at one time and we are certain many never saw so many planes before. It was a great day for Sikeston and the gentlemen who worked so faithfully and so hard to put this entertainment over should receive the praise of the entire community.

The Standard is authorized to announce Eugene M. Munger, of Chaffee, as a candidate for Congress from the 10th Congressional District, subject to the will of the voters at the August primary election.

AGAIN STATE HAS HOT, DRY WEATHER

Temperatures over the State during a hot, dry week just concluded ranged from 96 to 108 degrees, according to H. C. Gross in his Missouri weekly weather and crop bulletin. The average temperature of the week, he stated was 9 degrees above normal. The average rainfall for the week was only 14 per cent of the normal, and many sections had not even scattered showers. Especially serious are the facts that drought is again affecting crops in numerous areas and that stock water is becoming increasingly scarce.

The progress of corn was generally fair to fairly good. Its advancement ranges from first plowing to laid by, and some is tasseling. In many fields the corn was curling badly from hot winds. The threshing of wheat is well under way. Yields have been reported poor to fairly good and generally the grain is small and light. Rains have been insufficient to benefit pastures. The second cutting of alfalfa is about one-half crop. Potatoes, truck crops, and vegetables are poor. Some reports of apples falling off on account of dry weather. In the southeastern counties cotton is making good progress and blooms are becoming more numerous.

CASES CONTINUED IN J. P. COURTS THURSDAY

The case of the Cook Trucking Company of Pine Bluff, Ark., charged with interstate hauling without a public service commission permit, was taken from Judge Wm. S. Smith's justice of the peace court Thursday and placed on the docket for the next term of the Scott county circuit court. In Judge Smith's court, too, a hearing for Arzie Hicks of near Sikeston, who was arrested two weeks ago and charged with beating his wife and child, was continued until July 26; and a trial for Raymond Holman, arrested here June 29 and accused of assault on E. A. Geham, until July 12. In Judge Jos. W. Myers' justice of the peace court, Dennis Dennis, who was temporarily placed in the city jail Saturday night after he allegedly slightly injured the infant daughter of Homer Humphrey and tore down Mrs. John Welter's iron fence as he drove a car while he was intoxicated, was also continued until July 12.

AVIATION DIRECTOR

Dr. John D. Brock is well qualified for his position as aviation director for the State Chamber of Commerce, for he holds the world's record for daily flying. When he lands at Sikeston for a three-hour and fifteen minute stop July 17, he will have completed 1705 consecutive days of flying.

Clergyman Admits Stealing

Jake Farris, a negro clergyman of McMullin, was released upon his agreement to pay costs and to refrain from driving his automobile until he had purchased State license tags when he pled guilty before W. S. Smith Saturday evening to stealing plates from a car belonging to E. J. Keith. In Joseph W. Myers' court Monday afternoon, Ben L. Givens of New Madrid was given a fine and costs amounting to $10 when he pled guilty to reckless driving Sunday. Givens was arrested by Troopers John Tandy and Melvin Dace.

Blanton Awarded Lions Key

C. L. Blanton, Jr., who retired recently as president of the Lions club here, was presented with a white gold key on which is mounted the seal of Lions International at a regular luncheon of the Sikeston group held a week ago Wednesday noon. The key, which is fashioned to be worn on a watch chain, is given Lions who in one year secure two members who have never in any way been affiliated before with any Lions Club. Mr. Blanton was the 9717th Lion in the United States to gain this distinction.

MISS VIRGINIA FLINT TO WED JOHN K. DAVIS

The engagement of Miss Mary Virginia Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Flint, of 6136 Waterman avenue, and Mr. John Kenneth Davis, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Davis of Los Angeles, Cal., was announced yesterday when Mrs. Flint was hostess to a group of her daughter's friends at a bridge luncheon. The guests were seated at a long table decorated with pink rosebuds and pink tapers. The place card tallies contained the interesting news. Mrs. Flint entertained guests at a smaller table similarly decorated. The prospective bride was graduated from Christian College, Columbia, Mo., and the Kroeger School of Music. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa. Mr. Davis is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. The date of the wedding has not been announced.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Miss Flint is a niece of Mrs. H. J. Welsh of this city and is well known here, having visited here frequently.

GENE BOWMAN MARRIES MISS ROSEMARY TALENT

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Talent of Cape Girardeau, daughter of Harold Talent, of Chicago to Gene Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Bowman, was announced Monday evening. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Vienna, Ill., by the Rev. Hammond, Methodist minister. Mr. Bowman, who was a student at the Sikeston high school during the last term, is now employed by the Scott County Milling Company. For the present, he and his bride will live with the Bowmans at their home at 1102 North Ranney Street.

GLEANS CLASS TO MEET

An all-day meeting of the Gleaners class of the Methodist Episcopal church here will be held July 11 at the home of Mrs. Harry Dudley at 315 Dorothy Street.

Lions Club To Sponsor Musical Revue July 9

In an effort to raise money so that members of the Lions Club may go to Grand Rapids, Mich., July 17 to compete with representatives from clubs throughout the United States and parts of Mexico and Canada at the Lions International Convention there, a cast of forty will present a musical revue at 8 o'clock, July 9, at the high school auditorium.

At the International Convention in St. Louis last year, young women of the chorus, which is now composed of Hazel Young, Evelyn Allard, Mary Emma Powell, Adagene Bowman and Louis Ellen Tanner not only brought recognition to Sikeston and the State by presenting their dance act, which was part of a series of stunts given at the sessions, but were awarded first place over all other competitors. Further, it has been shown, they have immeasurably aided the community by appearing frequently in civic entertainments.

The revue, which will be unified by a plot, will illustrate different types of music found in separate periods and times. A young boy and a young girl, searching for the land of realism, will progress through fairyland, an old-fashioned garden, and a college campus before they reach the land of today. In each of these scenes songs and dances appropriate to the atmospheres will be presented.

Mildred Bradley of Kennett, who conducted classes in dancing here last winter and who presented her pupils in a revue during April, has conceived the theme of the musical revue and is now directing members of the cast for their performance July 9. In addition to this work Miss Bradley is drilling the young women of the Lions Club chorus for a stunt in Grand Rapids. If the proceeds from the revue are sufficient to enable the girls to compete at the International Convention, she said, the stunt they are now preparing will be given between July 9 and 17.

Tuck Milligan Will Speak Here July 11

Jacob L. (Tuck) Milligan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Missouri subject to the August 7 primaries, will speak here at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 11. Mr. Milligan, who will also address Democrats at Charleston at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the same day and will tour through Scott County with friends during the time of his appearances in the afternoon and evening, talks from an especially equipped sound truck, one side of which provides a platform. Mr. Milligan was born March 9, 1889, in Richmond, Mo., where he attended the public schools. During the years from 1910 until 1914, he was a student at the University of Missouri, and in 1913 he was admitted to the bar. As captain of Company G of the 35th division of the 140th Infantry in the World War, he was abroad between April 23, 1918, and April 28, 1919.

He was elected to the 66th Congress to fill out the unexpired term of Judge J. W. Alexander and in addition has represented the old third Missouri district in the 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, and 72nd Congresses. In the 1932 State-wide election, he was chosen as a representative by a large majority.

New Volumes Added To Library Shelves

With money recently donated by the Lions Club and by the Southeast Missouri Telephone Company, Mrs. C. A. Cook, librarian of the Woman's Club library, has been able to complete the Tom Swift series of books for the boys. The last purchase of seventeen books of this group has been added to those already on the library shelves.

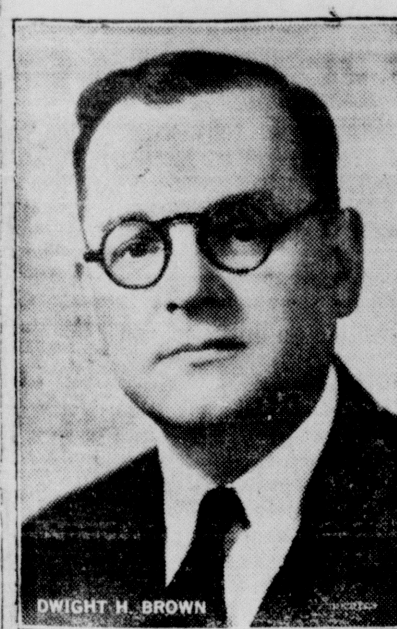

In addition to these volumes, Mrs. Cook has bought eight Nancy Drew mystery books for girls to complete that series, and five senior books, including the 1933 Pulitzer prize winning novel, Miller's Lamb in His Bosom, Scribner's Unfinished Cathedral, The Provincial Lady in America by Delafield, Bachelor of Arts by

STATE OFFICIAL

When Dwight M. Brown arrives at the Missouri Chamber of Commerce last July 17, he will have returned temporarily to his native land, for he was born in Benton and spent a large part of his early life at Poplar Bluff, where he was editor of the Evening Citizen when he was still 19 years old. He has served as a State senator and parole commissioner, and is now, in addition to being president of the State Chamber of Commerce, Secretary of State.

During June, Mrs. Cook said, 471 books were circulated from the library, which is located on the second floor of the Scott County Milling Company building on Center street. The library is open from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays.

TO HOLD TWO-DAY PICNIC NEAR HERE

A two-day picnic featuring double header baseball games and dancing will be held Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14, four and a half miles north of Sikeston and a mile east of Tanner.

Noble Hart, manager of the affair, has announced that a large orchestra from Poplar Bluff will play at dances held both nights of the picnic and that a prize will be awarded a person who is adjudged the best dancer.

Besides the ball games, numerous other kinds of entertainments will be offered during the daytime, and cold drinks, hot fish, ice cream and barbecue will be served. A committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Tommie Barnett and Bert Jackson.

15,000 Witness Great Two-Day Celebration

Sikeston business men closed their shops Wednesday and joined with persons living all over Southeast Missouri to witness the huge air circus which members of the board of aeronautics, public-spirited citizens, and owners and pilots of airplanes had prepared for them.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 persons saw the stunts, formation flights, contests, fireworks, and style show which were features of the celebration, and a hundred men, under the direction of officials who managed the affair, guided traffic in and out of the airport so well that there was a remarkable absence of congestion during both days. Parked in eight long rows, cars banked almost one whole side of the field, and people who came from throughout the district visited and watched events on the program.

While all over the country accidents, as always, punctuated Fourth of July celebrations, the two-day ceremony here was completed without a single tragedy. This record was established, according to members of the city board of aeronautics, largely because of the public address system which was purchased especially for the occasion by Harry Young and was operated by him. The system, board men said, not only served admirably for announcing events, broadcasting speeches, introducing participants in the style show, and calling persons to designated parts of the field, but served, in a manner far more effective than any which could possibly be used by police officers, to prevent accidents.

The field was in splendid condition, and all day people at the celebration looked upward to see many of the thirty-two planes of

Twenty-Seven Sent To Big Spring CCC Camp

Twenty-seven young men, nineteen of them representatives to the CCC camp which has been established at Big Spring State Park near Van Buren as part of the federal government's drought relief program, left Scott County Monday for a six-months' stay at the camp. The county allotment was set at twenty boys, all members of families now on the direct relief roll, but eight additional ones were chosen as alternates. The following young men from separate communities of Scott reported at the park at 10 o'clock Monday morning: Benton, representative, Arnold Brooks; alternates, Willard McClain and Jesse W. Teague; Blodgett, representa-

Loses Three Fingers When Car Turns Over

Mrs. Ruth Wagner of Chaffee suffered the virtual loss of three fingers of her right hand Monday when a Dodge automobile driven by Charles Harrington of Sikeston left the pavement of Highway 25 north of Jackson and turned over several times. The fingers were severed near the first joints. Harrington sustained bruises, and other passengers in the car suffered minor injuries. Mrs. Ruth Russell of Chaffee, cuts on her lower limbs, and Allen Wade of Oran, abrasions on the side of his head. After the four were taken into a physician's office in Jackson by passing motorists and were treated, they returned to their homes.

Red Cross Instruction Is Termed Invaluable

One hundred and forty persons drowned in the United States each week, according to a report issued recently by officials of the mid-western area of the National Red Cross organization. The estimated total fatalities from drowning in a year is 7400, a figure which has increased by a 1000 from 1925 to 1932. The largest number of deaths by drowning, the report continues, occurs in the age groups below 35; the greatest percentage is between men of from 15 to 19 years and the next greatest between 25 and 34 years. The loss in wages and for medical assistance and overhead insurance during 1932 has been estimated at two billion dollars. The Red Cross Life Saving instruction courses emphasize not only methods of rescue and resuscitation, the report states, but also the dangers of swimming in hazardous ponds, pools, and creeks where there is no supervision; in swimming alone; and in the attempted rescue of the drowning by any other than one qualified to perform a rescue. There are nearly a half-million life savers in this country. More than 1300 Red Cross chapters are conducting life saving programs in their counties. Organized in 1914, the Red Cross life saving service has grown to tremendous proportions from a membership of one. Other great national organizations, such as the Boy Scouts and the "Y's", closely co-operate with the Red Cross in promoting life saving. While the tremendous expansion of paved roads, the building of hundreds of new swimming pools, and the increased attractiveness of resorts mean progress, they nevertheless have greatly increased the possibility of drownings. The Red Cross is vigorously pushing its training of community leadership for first aid and life saving.

Local Golfers Have Sixth Straight Victory

Sikeston 24-Dexter 8

Sikeston's golf team, after two losses to Blytheville, Ark., got back into winning form and made short work of Dexter—their nearest competitor in the Southeast Missouri League—on the local grounds Sunday afternoon. Because a rain fell just before the match started and made the sand greens fast and hard to putt on, the scores Sunday were higher than usual. Sonny Lee with a 75 was low shooter for Sikeston. M. Sisler, of Dexter, with a 75 was low shooter for the visitors. Fred Smith of Dexter with a 76, and Pete Medley and L. M. Stallcup with 77s were next in scoring honors. George Sisler of Dexter and Peg Mahew and George Kirk of Sikeston were the only other shooters able to tour the 18 holes under 80. Dexter brought only 13 players for this match, so quite a number of Sikeston's players were not matched.

An effort is being made to secure a match with Cape Girardeau for Sunday. Cape Girardeau is not in the Southeast Missouri League but has a fairly strong team. Two matches will be arranged with them during the present season.

Scores Sunday were as follows: Sikeston players named first.

MAGIC IN A NAME

Since the Associated Press and Mr. Wallhausen have been busy cataloging death recently—Death rides in the cooling breezes, Death is a marble, Death is a sack of potatoes—another figure may be added to the list: Death is a joke.

Near Hayti, Willie Byrd, a 22-year-old hitchhiker of Peach Orchard, Mo., leaped from a moving car when he was frightened by Boyd Pruett, a Caruthersville salesman.

In jest, Pruett introduced himself as John Dillinger when he allowed the lad to ride with him, and Byrd, terrified, declined to wait until the car could be stopped before he left it.

The youth was treated by a Hayti physician and was taken to the home of relatives in Paragould, Ark. There he died.

Newsboy Photo Wins Art Club Award

That ever-popular and colorful figure, the great American newsboy, was elevated to a new dignity by the recent action of the Art Directors Club at its annual exhibit of advertising art, in awarding its honor medal to this lively photograph of a typical newsboy.

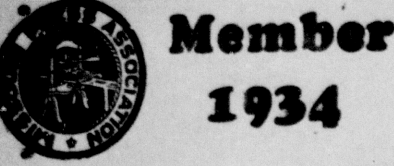

In competition with all the professional beauties, male and female, who have decorated the advertising pages for the past year, this wholesome-looking youngster was singled out by the Jury of Awards. This photograph from real life snapped on the run as the boy sped down the street crying his papers was voted the best in its class.

The illustration was made for the Mergenthaler Linotype Company and used by it in advertising Excellence type, a new type face developed to give better legibility in newspaper pages.

What Is This World Coming To? is an old saying and the marriage of Samuel Wallace, Jr., and Gertrude Schubeck, in their nakedness, by a so-called preacher draped in a leopard skin, was about the limit. The whole damn bunch should have been tarred and feathered. Anyway, how do you reckon that preacher kept his mind on the ceremony.

The President is off on his long sea trip to Porto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, and way stations. Here's hoping the trip will do him good and after watching the hula hula girls on the beaches of the Sandwich Islands, he will return to Washington full of vigor.

"It's a Damned Lie"

During a night session which was part of a long, torrid, and continuous—with the exception of short periods for meals—twelve-hour day in the Cape Girardeau circuit court in the trial of Otto Menz, charged with complicity in the murder December 7 of Frank Roseme, Sheriff Joe Anderson sat on the witness stand for nearly an hour answering questions and cross-questions.

At last J. Grant Frye, a defense attorney, asked the officer, "Isn't it a fact that during the Edith Menz trial your wife sat in the back of the court room and took notes of the testimony and then turned them over to the State's witnesses who had not testified?" The sheriff looked at Frye angrily. "It's a damned lie", he said. Judge Robert I. Cope, who was presiding at the trial, decided that he could not permit such strong, frank language. He fined the offender his witness fee and mileage for the day, a total of $4.70.

Since we published the snake story last week we have encountered a number of farmers who are really friends to snakes. They refuse to kill any of them when they find them. They have evidence from many sources that they are among the best to destroy rats and other pests. In many cases they have killed them to find in their tubular stomach a mole. Sometimes they have found as many as two moles. One man, in speaking to us about the snake he killed, said he found the snake had a mole trapped and was in the act of devouring it, and when he had dispatched the snake opened it and released another mole that had been swallowed. We have always been rather hostile to the snakes and whenever encountered would do our best to kill them. From this on, unless they bother us, we are going to permit them to go on their way and destroy all of the mice, rats and moles they can find. —Vandalia Leader.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

THIS week is the week for the home canning of pineapple for making conserves of pineapple with navel oranges, strawberries, rhubarb, or combination of these. All are cheap and plentiful but this is the year's peak of the pineapple season.

Bing cherries are moderately plentiful and low priced. Red raspberries are in market. Bananas are especially fine and cheap. The California Valencia orange season is beginning as the Florida season tapers off. Both honeydew melons and cantaloupes are generally available.

Lettuce is scarce and high but vegetables suitable for salads, cabbage, spring spinach, carrots and tomatoes, are plentiful. Green peas and asparagus are particularly good and cheap.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following menus.

CURSES WERE COMMON IN OLDEN TIMES

The curse of a Paraoth's tomb is today spoken of with awe as something superior and extra-sinister in malevolent power. But the Egyptians were no more given to concocting curses than many other people, and there is no reason for singling them out, according to Dr. George S. Duncan, professor of Egyptology at the American university.

Dr. Duncan has made a survey of curses in Egypt, Babylonia and Israel, and he reported the results recently before the American Oriental society, meeting in Philadelphia.

There are 195 curse verses in the Bible, mostly in the old testament. Dr. Duncan has counted them. Again and again Bible characters went up to a mountaintop, to be near the sources of power, and from that high place called down wrath of heaven on evil doers. Gerizim and Ebal, two peaks, came to be associated with such rites. Gerizim was a mountain for blessing, and Ebal for curse.

Curses were common in Babylonia, reported Dr. Duncan. It was customary to put curses on landmarks and boundary lines, so that anyone who interfered with them would be punished. There were no fences, but the people believed that one who broke the property laws would be visited by sickness or other misfortune, as a result of the curse. The curse was depended on to work, whether the law actually caught the offender or not.

In medieval England, said Dr. Duncan, the clergy went into the fields and invoked blessings on those who moved or otherwise transgressed the boundaries. Centuries later Shakespeare wrote 167 passages dealing with the live topic of curses, and had one put on his own tomb.

And has modern man outgrown his faith in curses as a means to getting what he wants? Far from it. In Pennsylvania a boy shoots a woman because, for seven years, he says, she hexed him and cast evil spell. An Egyptian Pharaoh could learn a few pointers from a modern session of hex doctors, right here in America.—Science Service.

BAD HUSBANDS CAN BE GOOD

By Helen Rowland

An open-handed racketeer, a pleasant-tempered kidnaper or even a nice, genial bank robber may be a "good husband" (as so many of their gun-moll wives have testified) while the most upright and virtuous man in your community may be just a matrimonial headache. Carrying a gun in one pocket doesn't prevent a thoughtful man from remembering to bring the little woman a diamond bracelet or a couple of alligator pears in the other pocket.

Nobody can tell any woman just what combination of qualities will make a good husband—for her. Because the whole success of a marriage depends on the team work! And unless a man and a woman are gauged to do team work—unless each understands where the other is heading and can keep the same pace, any marriage is hard pulling.

The trouble with most marriages, which end in Mexico or Reno, is too much "rugged individuality". Too much personal independence—too much self-expression—and too little team work!

What you need, for happiness in marriage is not a "model husband" or a paragon of all the virtues, but a good running mate!

MRS. G. MOORE GREER TO ENTERTAIN WOMEN VISITORS AT STATE FAIR

As hostess at the Women's Building on the Missouri State fair grounds during the week of the fair, August 11 to 18, Mrs. G. Moore Greer will provide for the comfort and entertainment of the exposition's women visitors.

The Woman's Building, which, according to Charles W. Green, secretary of the State Fair Association, has been designed expressly for the convenience of women, will be used exclusively by them this year.

In 1933 and previously, Mrs. Greer said, members of the fair's personnel slept in the structure, but this summer, in addition to herself, only the superintendent of the educational department and her two judges and possibly the superintendent of the administration dining hall will remain in the building.

Early in the week on which the fair opens, Mrs. Greer will go to Sedalia to visit friends. Then by August 11 she will move into a room with bath on the second floor of the woman's building, all of which she will manage with the exception of the basement, where children's health contests are held. Throughout the week, she said, she will spend her time talking with women visitors, answering questions, and doing numerous other things just as she would if she were entertaining guests in her own home.

Mrs. Greer, who has lived in Sikeston for eighteen years, is eminently fitted for this position, which has been given to a resident of Southeast Missouri for the first time in the history of the fair.

She is corresponding secretary of the State organization of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and a member of the Nathaniel Watkins Chapter of the U. D. C. here. As an accomplished musician she was one of the organizers of the Apollo Group, and she has been a member of the Woman's Club since she came here to live. In all of these organizations, Mrs. Greer has been an active worker and office holder.

Before her graduation in dramatic arts from Christian College in Columbia, Mrs. Greer was an athlete and as a basketball player was awarded the distinction of being declared the star forward in Missouri.

She expects to enjoy her work at the State fair, she said, and will be delighted to see all of her Southeast Missouri friends.

CHAPTER X

FOREWORD

Lord Rexford refuses all Mary's efforts toward a reconciliation and Sylvia's arrival in London with a gay crowd does not help matters. Mary, hurt at her husband's manner, goes off to a gay club with her sister and friends. Rexford follows her and says there is but one solution—divorce.

Lady Riversleigh saw at once that something tragic had happened when Mary returned to the bar and said simply that Philip had gone.

"Well, now, that's fine," she said. "A home party is impending—we are all going down to Riversleigh Hall, and you're the one thing needed to make it a wow."

"But, I can't, Aunt Hetty. Philip—"

"Don't throw that stand-offish nephew of mine in my face. You're coming—that's all."

Mary, feeling her world had fallen to pieces around her, was too exhausted in spirit to protest. She would have wished that Tommy Trent was not of the party. Still, what difference could it make? She had told him they could never be anything but friends. He had not allowed any wound of the heart—or what is often more important—any hurt to his pride, to stand between him and all he could do to save her marriage.

Perhaps it all might have been different if it had not been for Tommy's kindness during the following days. If he had been hilarious, if he had tried to make love to her, if he had even mentioned Cannes, she could have been on her guard. Unfortunately he did none of these things.

Mary felt the world had fallen to pieces around her.

She danced, she drank, she played with the rest of them and she believed none of them noticed that she was simply going through the motions of being lighthearted and happy. She was eager for the post. Every time the telephone rang, her heart lost a beat. She had not tried to communicate with Philip—that she could not do—but she had left word at the London house where she had gone and if he tried to communicate with her, he would be told where he could reach her.

Hope was running low as the days went on. It was almost a week and there had been no word. One night everyone was tired. They had been up at dawn following the hounds and hours in the saddle and the knowledge that the morrow was also to be a crowded one, decided them to go to bed early.

Mary, knowing she could not sleep, telling herself that Philip might phone before midnight, silently crept downstairs when all the lights were out, to the library. She lit the candles in the old sconces on either side of the fireplace and sat there in the soft, dim light. It was there that Tommy, coming down for a book, found her—bent over, her face in her hands.

"Mary?" he gasped. "What is the matter? Are you ill, dear?"

She could not speak, but her grief-stricken face when she lifted it to him, told him more than any words could have done. He thought he had never seen anything quite so bad as the smile he managed, by heroic effort, to summon.

"My, my," he said in a low tone. "Tell me anything you want to—or nothing. That is up to you. But I must tell you I love you—so much do I love you that all I want is for you to be happy."

He meant it, deeply. And it was, of all the things he might have said, the very worst thing he could said. Gently, he helped her from the low chair and together they went up the stairs and down to the corridors to the distant, old wing where her room was. They stood a minute, without speaking, at the door. Then suddenly—neither of them could remember afterward just how it came about—she was in his arms. They went in and closed the door.

It was a little after midnight when some one smelled the smoke. There was a wild scramble when the alarm was given and in a few minutes, guests and servants were in the garden. They had not waited to dress, but had thrown coats or bathrobes—anything which came to hand first—over their night clothes.

It had seemed as if the fire had been conquered, when some one said sparks were flying toward the old wing. Aunt Hetty gasped.

"The old wing! Mary is there—she wanted to be off by herself—probably, at that distance, she hadn't heard! Quick—"

She ran toward the house and several of the guests went with her. They banged on the door.

"Don't speak!" cautioned Tommy. "Don't let them hear a sound."

"Mary, Mary!" screamed Aunt Hetty. "Come out. The house is on fire!"

"My God!" said Tommy, as Mary started for the door. "If only—"

"I know, Tommy dear," said Mary. "But it doesn't matter any more."

She opened the door.

"Thank God, you are all right!" said Aunt Hetty, throwing her arms

Don't Stew This Summer

DON'T stew over the stove this summer. After the cold winter we've just been through the summer season is bound to be long and hot, and, besides, stewing over the stove has become quite unnecessary. But if you don't stew over the stove, we can hear many housewives ironically asking, what shall we stew over—the ice box? The answer to that is: "No. Don't stew anywhere. For all your stewing has been done or is being done for you in the big commercial canneries which now dot the country."

In other words, when you make your food plans for this summer, whether you take the children to the seashore or the mountains, or just stay quietly in your own home, include in them a plentiful supply of canned foods. If fresh vegetables are at hand, have some of them, too, of course, but if they have to be shipped any great distance to you, or the best ones are being saved for the city markets, you will find it far safer (and cooler) to use canned foods.

Good Milk Essential

Good milk is essential, wherever you go, and nowadays you can always have it. If there are no cows in your neighborhood whose health has been tested and certified by Government experts (be sure to ascertain this fact for the sake of the children), take along your own milk in the form of the dried, evaporated or condensed product, for all of these come from certified cows. Un-sweetened evaporated milk is now more and more widely used for babies, and we have the authority of leading pediatricians that from the nutritional standpoint it is the full equivalent of pasteurized or boiled whole cow's milk. This makes it now possible to take even the littlest babies anywhere you want to go.

What are the canned vegetables you should have on hand or have shipped to you as you used them in order to escape that stewing which we recommended that you should avoid? The main ones, of course, are tomatoes, corn, peas and beans, but you should also include spinach for the children (and that's where you save a lot of weary work of preparation), and you'll find some asparagus for salads and beets and carrots good to have on hand.

Fruits and Fish

You can't go wrong in providing for a supply of the principal fruits and canned fruit juices for summer drinks. The principal fruits are peaches, pears, pine-apples and apricots, but you should also remember that the best apple sauce you have ever tasted comes in cans. Think it over. Has all the apple sauce you ever made been uniformly good? The sauce that comes in cans is made of apples especially grown for that purpose, and is uniform in blend and taste.

As for fish, canned codfish, mackerel, salmon and tuna fish are all tasty and valuable for their iodine content, and what would you do on picnics without any sardines?

Your Time Is Free

With such an assortment of canned foods, either taken along or ordered sent to you at convenient intervals, you will be able to spend your time outdoors in the sun and get a tan instead of getting paler and paler simmering and stewing over a stove. You will have time to play with your children and be a companion to them, for sports and reading and all the outdoor joys of summer. Doesn't this simple plan sound rather worth while?

To Make It Easier, Still

If it does, here's a last suggestion to make your summer still easier. Clip out the following recipe, and take it along with you, too.

Tuna Fish and Vegetable Pie: Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup milk and the liquor from an 8-ounce can of peas and carrots, and season to taste. Add the peas and carrots and the contents, flaked, of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Make some baking powder biscuit dough, using one half cup flour, and cover the top with this dough in one piece or else cut into tiny biscuits. Bake in a hot oven until the biscuits are well browned. This recipe serves four, and costs only about forty-two cents.

You COULD "Grease It" With SALT FISH But Your Car NEEDS the Protection of Genuine Alemite-ing

Some motorists continue to have their cars "greased" merely because there doesn't seem to be any dramatic difference between "greasing" and the use of Alemite Lubricants.

But the dramatics come later! When expensive repair bills come in—due to inefficient "greasing"—there is drama all over the place! And no comedy in it, either, for when the bank roll is heavily touched even the careless buyer of "bargain greasing" sets up a moan. Alemite Lubricants are developed for the Alemite High Pressure Lubrication System built into your car by the engineers who designed it. There are also Alemite Lubricants for EVERY OTHER LUBRICANT DEMAND of your car.

You get Genuine Alemite Lubricants ONLY under the BRAND NAME—"Alemite!"

Alemite lubricants ARE "lubricants"—not "greases". For they are far more than mere "greases". Each one is especially made for a special lubrication NEED on your car. Each is compounded with far greater margins of lubrication safety even than the most rigid specifications of automotive lubrication authorities.

Alemite Service is a vital necessity for fine performance and freedom from repair bills with the high speeds and flexibility in driving of the modern motor car.

Alemite-ing means serving your car with the Special Alemite Lubricants it requires—by means of specially designed "guns" or "compressors" which force IN the fresh Alemite Lubricants as they force OUT the old. Alemite Service ALSO provides for ALL the other lubrication demands of the modern motor car.

To be SURE of the highest type of lubrication service known to the modern motor world, you must get it at the sign of the Big, Yellow Alemite "A".

TAKE NO CHANCES! Have your car served with GENUINE ALEMITE LUBRICANTS—NOT "GREASED"—EVERY 500 MILES!

DON'T SAY "GREASE IT" ASK FOR... INSIST UPON... GET GENUINE ALEMITE LUBRICANTS.

TO GIVE LIFE SAVING COURSE NEXT WEEK

A complete junior and senior life saving course will be given at the Natatorium here all next week by Wilbur Ensor and P. D. Malone, Red Cross life saving examiners for Scott County. In connection with the school, these two supervisors will give final examinations for Red Cross life saving badges.

Weldon B. Hester, a member of the national Red Cross life saving staff for the midwestern area who was here Monday and part of Tuesday, conducted examinations for Mr. Ensor and Mr. Malone, and at the same time offered instruction to men eligible for senior life saving badges.

On Tuesday he left for Flat River, where he will give similar tests.

Addresses Delivered at Official Field Dedication

At 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Sikeston municipal airport was officially presented to the city by J. J. Miller, of Illinois, formerly chairman of Scott County's CWA committee, and was officially received by Dr. G. W. H. Presnell, the mayor. R. E. Bailey, a prominent Sikeston attorney, presided at the presentation, and many of the city's outstanding men who have been active in effecting the finished airport, sat on a platform from which the speeches were made.

The addresses are printed below:

"As chairman of your Scott County Civic Works Administration committee, it is my pleasure to address you at this time," Mr. Miller said.

The CWA in Scott County has spent $100,000 since the first of last December and the people on the relief roll have received grocery orders to the amount of $40,000 to which was added 10,000 pounds of surplus commodities consisting of foodstuffs.

"That is what the United States government has done for us in Scott County. Some of this money is that which was used to build this airport. It is one of the largest in the State and this committee is proud of being able to say that it was through our efforts the project was made possible. We folk in the north end of the county are proud that Scott County has such an airport even though it had to be in the south end of the County."

"Now, in behalf of the Scott County CWA Committee, I present this airport to the City of Sikeston and leave it to Dr. Presnell, your mayor, to take care of it."

"I thank you."

Dr. Presnell then stood before the microphone to accept the field.

"It is with both pride and pleasure that I accept this airport on behalf of Sikeston, the Biggest Little City in America. It is a worthy addition to a worthy City. It is an achievement of which not only Sikeston, but all Southeast Missouri should justly feel proud. And where, better, in all Southeast Missouri could this great airport have been placed, than in Sikeston, the hub of Southeast Missouri? Being a Sikestonian, I might be accused of bragging, were it not for the fact that everyone here, every one in Southeast Missouri, and for that matter people everywhere, know that Sikeston, with her beautiful homes, her magnificent churches, her splendid schools, her great manufacturing industries, her central location with three great national highways and two great railways crossing her, is a veritable Eden, set like a gleaming jewel in the very center of the Modern Promised Land. We feel, and we know that our neighbors feel, that no better choice for the airport could have been made."

"And we are proud of our new airport. Why did we want an airport for Southeast Missouri? Because the mode of transportation of the future is undoubtedly the airplane. America is becoming, every hour, more air-minded, and if America is air-minded, so must Southeast Missouri be air-minded. We can't wait for the parade to pass before we join it; we find our place somewhere near the lead; we do things."

"As Mr. Miller told you, the CWA spent $100,000 in Scott County, a part of which paid for the airport. Mr. Miller also says that he and his committee are proud of their efforts in obtaining this project, and we say to Mr. Miller and the committee that we are proud of them. Thank you, Mr. Miller and your CWA committee. We also wish to extend your thanks to the local aeronautics board for its untiring effort in consummating this airport. This board is composed of Clay Mitchell, representing the Lions Club; Earl Johnson, representing the American Legion; J. E. Harper, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Hubert Boyer, representing the City Council; and the judges of our county court, Hon. Leonard McMullin, Hon. John Heebe, and Hon. Peter Gosche. Sikeston thanks you, Scott County thanks you, all Southeast Missouri thanks you today."

"Not only do we thank those who worked to get the airport here, but we pay a grateful tribute to those men who have pioneered in the work of making air travel safe and serviceable—these men who have given of their energy, their time, their money, and many of them, their lives. Brave men—daring men! Each of them deserves our admiration and our praise, and so today we pay tribute to these who have here as our guests and we extend to them a most hearty welcome and feel greatly honored by their presence at this dedication, and sincerely hope this airport will become as popular as these gentlemen whose names will adorn the Hall of Fame."

"I think it is altogether fitting that we commemorate this Fourth of July with our dedication of this worthy monument of the CWA, and I am proud and happy to accept, on behalf of the City of Sikeston, this great airport."

The Treasury reported it had spent $57,485,744 for unmelting scrap gold and $49,771,000 for newly mined gold from January 31 to June 2. The gold purchased by the mints and assay offices, is used as a backing for the currency under the gold reserve act of 1934.

H-H DEFEATS SIMPSON

The Himmelberger-Harrison nine defeated the munny baseball league's first half champions, the Simpson Oilers, June 28, by a score of 7 to 6. C. Sanders pitched for the winners and H. McFarling caught. Batteries for Simpson were Shaefer and Stacy, who pitched the sixth inning, and Sutton. Moody and Clayton were umpires. The game scheduled for Tuesday between Simpson and Kirby was postponed until next Wednesday.

Malted Milk

MILK is good for young and old. Some young people fail to appreciate what is good for them, however, and that is what caused the invention of malted milk. In a recent issue of Hygeia, published by the American Medical Association, Mrs. Doris W. McCray says of this healthful beverage:

"The true purpose of malted milk is to add flavor and nutritive value to fresh whole milk or to skimmed milk in order to make it a more pleasing beverage. Evaporated milk, diluted to the proportions of fresh milk and flavored with malted milk, makes a nutritious beverage. An appetizing hot beverage is made by using water, when milk is not available, and a larger amount of malted milk. The normal child should have his daily quart of fresh milk, or its equivalent in other forms of milk, such as dried milk and malted milk used in beverages, puddings and soups, regardless of the use of other nutritious additions to the milk and to the diet."

Can Be Used Alone

"Dry malted milk is delicious when it is sprinkled over breakfast cereal. One tablespoonful of the plain malted milk added to a cupful of hot tomato bouillon imparts a delicate characteristic flavor. Malted milk added to coffee, tea or postum is delicious. In camp, it may temporarily take the place of fresh cream."

"A plain baked or boiled custard is delicious when it is flavored with malted milk, and rice pudding may be flavored with malted milk and filled with dates for variation."

These are only a few extracts from this interesting article which tells much more about the malted milks which have received the Seal of Acceptance of the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association

A Busy Woman

HERE'S a woman who occasionally "dines" on a can of tomato juice from the ice-box. Her name is Claudine Macdonald, and she is the director of the Woman's Radio Revue, a featured daytime program over the National Broadcasting Company networks. Those who have not given the subject thought might be surprised to realize the vast amount of executive and detail work that goes into making a variety program such as this.

Mrs. Macdonald is one of the busiest women in the country. Not only must she procure a famous guest speaker for each of the five days a week that the Woman's Radio Revue is on the air, but she must also build a vocal and instrumental program around each speaker.

No Time to Eat

"Some days I don't even have time to eat," says this only woman director of the National Broadcasting Company. "Often I have a meal sent in from a nearby restaurant, but there are many times when I get nothing. On those evenings, when I get home from the studio too tired to think of stopping anywhere for a bite, I 'dine' on a can of tomato juice from the ice-box. Then I get a few hours' sleep, and go back to work."

Tomato juice is a tasty drink which has won its way to popular favor through its succulence and flavor as well as because of its health-giving qualities. But did you know that you can have it either hot or cold, served as either a cocktail or as bouillon, and that it is now making its appearance in these forms at many formal luncheons and dinners, though not as the entire meal as is sometimes the case with this very busy woman?

Notice of Final Settlement

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, Executrix of the estate of J. L. Chiles, deceased, will make final settlement of his accounts with said estate as such Executrix at the next term of the Probate Court of Scott County, Missouri, to be holden at Benton in said county, on the 6th day of August, A. D. 1934.

MAGGIE BREEN CHILES, Executrix

Acquiring a Bigger Sense of Things

CONSERVING the state of affairs in the common walks of life, one must admit that many of the troubles which beset mankind arise from the small sense of things entertained by the majority of individuals. We find people living in cramped and narrow circumstances, from which they make no effort to extricate themselves, because their sense of home has not expanded beyond limited ideals. Others regard as tedious and monotonous their tasks, because they have as yet only very little grasp of their native spiritual capabilities. Then, what a very small sense has mankind in general of what constitutes supply! We regard money as our supply, believing that without it we cannot live. But how limited, unstable, and fluctuating is the value of money, and how poor its dividends for those who cling fearfully and graspingly to it as if it were a vital necessity!

How narrow, too, is our sense of life! We acquiesce in the generally accepted belief that life includes old age which is the fore-runner of death. Nevertheless, this false sense of things need no longer be accepted as real and inevitable, for as everything has its starting point in thought, the mental expansion can begin at once.

As a bird's powerful wings bear it upward, so right thought will carry the thinker far when it is turned in the right direction. But if thought is kept chained down to a material basis, where it has no room to spread, expand, and soar, it follows that the thinker will remain on the same level. Our need then is to free our thought, lift it above the contemplation of life as merely physical, and set it winging into contemplation of the great spiritual truths about God and man to be found in the Bible. For it is a fact that all the little-nesses and limitations common to human experience arise from a false sense of God and man who is made in His likeness.

Even though the Bible depicts God as loving, good, wise, and unchangeable, many who have desired to know Him have not learned to feel Him as a mighty power and presence in their lives. Yet this right sense should be realized, for Christ Jesus said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall be also in him; and the might, works which he did were accomplished through his complete understanding of God as the ever present Father, caring for His children."

Who ever had so boundless a sense of things as Jesus? Even at the age of twelve he felt his God-given ability to talk and reason about spiritual things. Later, at the beginning of his ministry, the Master turned the water into wine at the marriage feast. The human needs of five thousand hungry people in a desert place did not dismay him, and the food set before them was abundant. When called upon to heal the sick and raise the dead, he did not bestow upon them only partial recovery, but health, activity, and freedom. And to all who follow in this way, Christ Jesus offers for all time full and complete salvation and life without end.

To Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, confidence in God as the vital power, the sovereign presence, the Father-Mother Mind, outweighed all other influences in her life; and through her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she has placed this beautiful, practical, and satisfying sense of God within the reach of all mankind.

On page 520 of Science and Health we find this profound statement: "Unfathomable Mind is expressed. The depth, breadth, height, might, majesty, and glory of infinite Love fill all space. That is enough!" As, to the material senses, the sun pours its light and heat upon all the earth, blessing and heartening mankind, so to the spiritual senses of those who gain a right concept of God, comes the glorious assurance of the all-pervading presence and power of the infinite Mind, which is Love, ceaselessly pouring forth its divine ideas for men to recognize and utilize. Goodness, wisdom, purity, loving-kindness, justice, mercy, faith, hope, courage, assurance—all these and every other spiritual quality existing in infinite Mind belong to man by reflection, for he is the idea of God, the expression of God's being.

Let all who find themselves held in cramped and narrow places by the limited sense of things they have hitherto entertained, begin at once to turn thought in the right direction. As the glories of infinite Mind are steadfastly contemplated, their concept of God will grow and enlarge, and with it will come a joyful sense of freedom and power through the spiritual ability to reject the false beliefs of limitation, lack, and discord. One's daily life and occupations will take on nobler outlines. Instead of the dread of helpless old age there will be the confident expectation of added wisdom, harmony, and fruition; and so the ceaseless incoming of Love's spiritual ideas to human consciousness, and their faithful utilization, will be manifested in our experience in abundant supply.—The Christian Science Monitor.

SEALSKINS

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, June 26 (via Mackay Radio).—This is seal-skinning time in Little America. You should see our blubbery biologists at work—Earle E. Perkins of New Brunswick, N. J.; Paul A. Siple of Erie, Pa., and Alton A. Lindsey of West Newton, Pa. What a mess!

They are very busy preparing seal-skins and that is some job. As I told you before, we have killed 500 seals for the food supply of ourselves and our dogs and the skins of these seals are valuable for various purposes, although they are covered with hair instead of the Arthur Abele poking fun at an Emperor penguin at Little America thick fur of northern seals. Already the three biologists have prepared seventeen Weddell and Crabeater seals and still have hundreds to do. They are prepared complete, with head, flippers and tails intact. When we get them back in the States they will be mounted in habitat groups for various museums all over the country.

Fixing up these seals is a very difficult job. Under the skin there is a layer of blubber, or thick goosy fat, to keep the seal warm in this icy climate. Every vestige of this blubber and all flesh must be removed and the bones of the skull and flippers must be cleaned carefully and preserved. Yesterday, for two hours I watched Lindsey at this work. He was literally up to his neck in oily grease from the blubber in spite of his great skill. It was fascinating to watch him. He told me they are going to secure many live Adelle and Emperor penguins in the spring (October) to bring back to zoos in America. They have materials for a large cage on hand and will not have the trouble trying unsuccessfully to keep them in a big hole in the snow that Paul Siple had on the last Expedition. Here's the most interesting thing he told me—they are going to install a big water tank on the Jacob Ruppert for the penguins on the homeward trip. It seems that it is very difficult to transport penguins alive because they must be fed by force—cramping the food down their necks. They cannot bend over to pick up food and can only eat when swimming or diving under water. I didn't know these things before and was greatly interested. Lindsey told me also that he and Siple and Perkins will prepare many penguin skins for mounting in museums at home and that they have already fixed a great quantity of skins of skua gulls, snowy petrels and Antarctic petrels, which, with the penguins and seals, will allow us to bring back probably the greatest collection of Antarctic fauna ever made available to American students of natural history.

The club lists are still open to membership, without cost, to all people interested in exploration, aviation and adventure. Membership card and free 20¢ by 27¢ inch working map of this strange part of the world will be sent to anyone sending name, address and loose 3 cent stamp to me at our American headquarters. Address: Arthur Abele, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y. Next week I'll tell you about "Millions!"

CWA SHAFT COMPLETED

From an idea originated some time ago by J. J. Miller, Jack Dolan, and George Arnold, all active CWA supervisors in Scott County, has come the completion of an appreciation of CWA activities here. In a parkway, where a farm-to-market road joins Highway 61 near Ilmo, is an eight-foot granite shaft on which has been placed a bronze plate bearing the names of State and county CWA administrators.

Above the list of names, which is printed below, are the words "In appreciation of CWA".

State staff: Wallace Crossley, Mrs. Tidd Cole and Miss Elizabeth Gissal.

County staff: J. J. Miller, chairman, Z. A. Heisserer, C. D. Matthews, J. A. Young, Roy A. Green,

SIX ORDINANCES PASSED BY COUNCILMEN MONDAY

Six ordinances were passed and routine business was disposed of at a regular monthly meeting of members of the City Council which was held Monday evening at the City Hall.

One act approved by the aldermen provides for the erection and observation of stop signs on Trotter street at its intersection with south New Madrid Street. The penalty for conviction of violation of this ordinance is set at a fine not less than $1 or more than $100, or imprisonment in jail for ninety days, or both.

The following additional ordinances were also passed: As a protective measure for the city, the municipal airport was leased to W. N. Robinson for the two days of the dedication ceremonies; the name of Ethel avenue was changed to that of East Gladys street; all police officers, including the chief, were instructed to carry firearms and to display their badges while they are on duty; the board of public works was authorized to discontinue service on light and water to customers who fail to pay their bills within ten days after notices are sent them; drivers of automobiles going east and west on Highway 60 must stop at the intersection of that route with Highway 61 at the east edge of town.

The last ordinance, which provides punishments for violation, was passed so that the city may enforce a ruling which is now generally understood because of the presence of the signs at the intersection of the two pavements. Councilmen will probably meet again during July for a special session.

An amicable adjustment was made when along came John Hreba who claims that he held a share of the ticket. The whole affair is now in court—and Ratovnik is still a janitor.

The Chinese have a deep veneration for the idea of a soul and of immortality, a feeling which explains their great respect for the dead and their love of funeral ceremonies. Millions of natives accept "the three religions", Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism, practically as one, each meeting a different want. Confucianism supplies the need of a moral code, Taoism ministers to the superstitious mind, and Buddhism appeals to the mystic element in man. Christianity and Mohammedanism are also well established in China.

HAS LARGE WHEAT YIELD

The 1934 yield on 135 acres of wheat on a farm owned by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, averaged twenty-seven and a half bushels to an acre, according to L. D. Mange, supervisor of the farm, who believes that no other wheat yield near here will average as much.

The farm, which is located in New Madrid County, southeast of Malden, was successfully operated last year as shown by figures published in the June 22 issue of The Standard.

This year Mr. Mange has harvested a total of 3535 bales of hay from a twenty-eight acre tract of alfalfa and a sixty acre field of clover. The bales, he said, averaged 97 pounds.

PALM BEACH..like raising a window

Ventilation! Air entering to evaporate body perspiration! That's what you get all summer through the wide-open pores and patented weave of the new Palm Beach.

Wide open because each pore of the cloth is a real little window in itself—with no fringe around the edges—with none of the whiskers or scales (scillia) found on the fibres of wools and worsteds, to catch dust and close the openings. That's why scientific tests show Palm Beach to be many times as porous as other summer fabrics.

Have you been a Palm Beach post-ponee all your life? Then let this summer introduce you to its luxurious coolness. It is dirt-repellent, wrinkle-resisting, crease-holding, washable, fully pre-shrunk—and it comes in white and many colors. Smartly tailored by GOODALL.

PARMA BOY LOST AT AIRPORT WEDNESDAY

Luther Stephens, fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stephens of Parma, is reported missing after having attended the airport dedication here Wednesday and becoming lost from his companions. Young Stephens came to the city with a crowd of Parma folk on a truck belonging to Claud Moore, also of that place, and in the course of the day became lost from his companions. Members of the party searched diligently for the youth, and failing to find him supposed that he had picked up a ride with someone else and returned home without him. Up to 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the boy had not as yet returned home. According to his father's description the boy is of medium build, weighing about 100 pounds, has light brown hair, blue eyes and was wearing a white shirt, a light checked cap and creamed colored trousers with a dark stripe. Since the boy is of a naturally quiet backward nature and more or less of a home lover, not likely to run away, his parents are very anxious about his welfare, and fear that he might have come to some ill fortune and would appreciate any word as to his whereabouts.

The celebration started Tuesday afternoon, when at 1 o'clock, town whistles announced that the National Guard ships were arriving from Cape Girardeau, where they had been met by commercial pilots already in Sikeston. Flying in perfect formation the planes circled the city several times before landing at the airport. After performing once more Tuesday, the national guard ships from the field at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, going up close together and executing numerous feats over the

Accidents at 60 Miles Per Hour

When an automobile going 60 miles per hour hits an object and is stopped within three feet, the blow would be enough to lift 40 similar cars three feet in height. High speeds cause some accidents and always make the results more serious. THE EDITOR SAYS—

Sergeant Mack Jackson, of the regular army now stationed at Warrensburg, Mo., was a Sikeston visitor the 3rd and 4th. It will be remembered Jackson was stationed in Sikeston for four years some years ago.

When Edith Rosen was paid only 25 cents for eight and one-half hours work in a Cleveland factory, she complained to NRA officials. On orders, her employer paid her $2.16 more. "What burned me up," she said, "was the fact that they put me to work sewing Blue Eagle emblems on neckties".

There has been considerable going on in Sikeston this week, besides the celebration of the 4th and the dedication of the air field. A white man got a black eye from a blind man; one young man hit another over the head with a bottle; a married woman pulled the hair of another girl for making an unkind remark of a girl friend; an officer locked up a stranger for pulling off a little whoopee and took a drunk home and put him to bed after he had smashed the glass out of a door. None of these cases appear on the police docket, therefore no names and particulars.

Germany, who has always bragged on her "kultur", has of late resorted to legalized murder to put out of Hitler's path any who disagreed with his way of thinking. Germany's treatment of the Catholics and Jews shows that she is fast disintegrating.

The Jack Lancaster beer license having expired, same will not be renewed, and the H. & L. Drug Store, formerly Dudley's, will serve only soft drinks over the counter to their customers. With soft drinks only, I. Ben Miller's best grade of ice cream, this will be a favorite place for those who do not drink beer.

The celebration on the 3rd and 4th and the dedication of the Sikeston airport were days never to be forgotten by Southeast Missourians. Perhaps never again will our people have the pleasure of seeing so many planes on our field at one time and we are certain many never saw so many planes before. It was a great day for Sikeston and the gentlemen who worked so faithfully and so hard to put this entertainment over should receive the praise of the entire community.

The Standard is authorized to announce Eugene M. Munger, of Chaffee, as a candidate for Congress from the 10th Congressional District, subject to the will of the voters at the August primary election.

AGAIN STATE HAS HOT, DRY WEATHER

Temperatures over the State during a hot, dry week just concluded ranged from 96 to 108 degrees, according to H. C. Gross in his Missouri weekly weather and crop bulletin. The average temperature of the week, he stated was 9 degrees above normal.

The average rainfall for the week was only 14 per cent of the normal, and many sections had not even scattered showers. Especially serious are the facts that drought is again affecting crops in numerous areas and that stock water is becoming increasingly scarce.

The progress of corn was generally fair to fairly good. Its advancement ranges from first plowing to laid by, and some is tasseling. In many fields the corn was curling badly from hot winds. The threshing of wheat is well under way. Yields have been reported poor to fairly good and generally the grain is small and light.

Rains have been insufficient to benefit pastures. The second cutting of alfalfa is about one-half crop. Potatoes, truck crops, and vegetables are poor. Some reports of apples falling off on account of dry weather.

In the southeastern counties cotton is making good progress and blooms are becoming more numerous.

CASES CONTINUED IN J. P. COURTS THURSDAY

The case of the Cook Trucking Company of Pine Bluff, Ark., charged with interstate hauling without a public service commission permit, was taken from Judge Wm. S. Smith's justice of the peace court Thursday and placed on the docket for the next term of the Scott county circuit court.

In Judge Smith's court, too, a hearing for Arzie Hicks of near Sikeston, who was arrested two weeks ago and charged with beating his wife and child, was continued until July 26; and a trial for Raymond Holman, arrested here June 29 and accused of assault on E. A. Geehan, until July 12.

In Judge Jos. W. Myers' justice of the peace court, Clyde Dennis, who was temporarily placed in the city jail Saturday night after he allegedly slightly injured Humphrey and tore down Mrs. John Welter's iron fence as he drove a car while he was intoxicated, was also continued until July 12.

AVIATION DIRECTOR

Dr. John D. Brock is well qualified for his position as aviation director, for the State Chamber of Commerce, for he holds the world's record for daily flying. When he lands at Sikeston for a three-hour and fifteen minute stop July 17, he will have completed 1705 consecutive days of flying.

Clergyman Admits Stealing

Jake Farris, a negro clergyman of McMullin, was released upon his agreement to pay costs and to refrain from driving his automobile until he had purchased State license tags when he pled guilty before W. S. Smith Saturday evening to stealing plates from a car belonging to E. J. Keith.

In Joseph W. Myers' court Monday afternoon, Ben L. Givens of New Madrid was given a fine and costs amounting to $10 when he pled guilty to reckless driving Sunday. Givens was arrested by Troopers John Tandy and Melvin Dace.

Blanton Awarded Lions Key

C. L. Blanton, Jr., who retired recently as president of the Lions club here, was presented with a white gold key on which is mounted the seal of Lions International at a regular luncheon of the Sikeston group held a week ago Wednesday noon. The key, which is fashioned to be worn on a watch chain, is given Lions who in one year secure two members who have never in any way been affiliated before with any Lions Club. Mr. Blanton was the 9717th Lion in the United States to gain this distinction.

MISS VIRGINIA FLINT TO WED JOHN K. DAVIS

The engagement of Miss Mary Virginia Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Flint, of 6136 Waterman avenue, and Mr. John Kenneth Davis, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Davis of Los Angeles, Cal., was announced yesterday when Mrs. Flint was hostess to a group of her daughter's friends at a bridge luncheon. The guests were seated at a long table decorated with pink roses and pink tapers.

The place card tallies contained the interesting news. Mrs. Flint entertained guests at a smaller table similarly decorated. The prospective bride was graduated from Christian College, Columbia, Mo., and the Kroeger School of Music. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

The date of the wedding has not been announced.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

MISS FLINT IS A NIECE OF MRS. H. J. WELSH OF THIS CITY AND IS WELL KNOWN HERE, HAVING VISITED HERE FREQUENTLY.

GENE BOWMAN MARRIES MISS ROSEMARY TALENT

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Talent of Cape Girardeau, daughter of Harold Talent, of Chicago to Gene Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Bowman, was announced Monday evening. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Vienna, Ill., by the Rev. Hammond, Methodist minister.

Mr. Bowman, who was a student at the Sikeston high school during the last term, is now employed by the Scott County Milling Company. For the present, he and his bride will live with the Bowmans at their home at 1102 North Ranney Street.

GLEANS CLASS TO MEET

An all-day meeting of the Gleaners class of the Methodist Episcopal church here will be held July 11 at the home of Mrs. Harry Dudley at 315 Dorothy Street.

Lions Club To Sponsor Musical Revue July 9

In an effort to raise money so that members of the Lions Club may go to Grand Rapids, Mich., July 17 to compete with representatives from clubs throughout the United States and parts of Mexico and Canada at the Lions International Convention there, a cast of forty will present a musical revue at 8 o'clock, July 9, at the high school auditorium.

At the International Convention in St. Louis last year, young women of the chorus, which is now composed of Hazel Young, Evelyn Allard, Mary Emma Powell, Adagene Bowman and Louis Ellen Tanner not only brought recognition to Sikeston and the State by presenting their dance act, which was part of a series of stunts given at the sessions, but were awarded first place over all other competitors. Further, it has been shown, they have immeasurably aided the community by appearing frequently in civic entertainments.

The revue, which will be unified by a plot, will illustrate different types of music found in separate periods and times. A young boy and a young girl, searching for the land of realism, will progress through fairyland, an old-fashioned garden, and a college campus before they reach the land of today. In each of these scenes songs and dances appropriate to the atmosphere will be presented.

Mildred Bradley of Kennett, who conducted classes in dancing here last winter and who presented her pupils in a revue during April, has conceived the theme of the musical revue and is now directing members of the cast for their performance July 9.

In addition to this work Miss Bradley is drilling the young women of the Lions Club chorus for a stunt in Grand Rapids. If the proceeds from the revue are sufficient to enable the girls to compete at the International Convention, she said, the stunt they are now preparing will be given between July 9 and 17.

Virginia Baker is serving as accompanist for the chorus this year.

Tuck Milligan Will Speak Here July 11

Jacob L. (Tuck) Milligan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from Missouri subject to the August 7 primaries, will speak here at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, July 11.

Mr. Milligan, who will also address Democrats at Charleston at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of the same day and will tour through Scott County with friends between the time of his appearances in the afternoon and evening, talks from an especially equipped sound truck, one side of which provides a platform.

Mr. Milligan was born March 9,

1889, in Richmond, Mo., where he attended the public schools. During the years from 1910 until 1914, he was a student at the University of Missouri, and in 1913 he was admitted to the bar. As captain of Company G of the 35th division of the 140th Infantry in the World War, he was abroad between April 23, 1918, and April 28, 1919.

He was elected to the 66th Congress to fill out the unexpired term of Judge J. W. Alexander and in addition has represented the old third Missouri district in the 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, and 72nd Congresses. In the 1932 State-wide election, he was chosen as a representative by a large majority.

New Volumes Added To Library Shelves

With money recently donated by the Lions Club and by the South-east Missouri Telephone Company, Mrs. C. A. Cook, librarian of the Woman's club library, has been able to complete the Tom Swift series of books for the boys. The last purchase of seventeen books of this group has been added to those already on the library shelves.

In addition to these volumes, Mrs. Cook has bought eight Nancy Drew mystery books for girls to complete that series, and five senior books, including the 1933 Pulitzer prize winning novel, Miller's Lamb in His Bosom, Scribner's Unfinished Cathedral, The Provincial Lady in America by Delafield, Bachelor of Arts by

When Dwight H. Brown arrives at the Missouri Chamber of Commerce next July 17, he will have returned temporarily to his native land, for he was born in Benton and spent a large part of his early life at Poplar Bluff, where he was editor of the Evening Citizen when he was still 19 years old. He has served as a State senator and parole commissioner, and is now, in addition to being president of the State Chamber of Commerce, Secretary of State.

Erskine, and Journey to the End of the Night by Celina.

During June, Mrs. Cook said, 471 books were circulated from the library, which is located on the second floor of the Scott County Milling Company building on Center street. The library is open from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays.

TO HOLD TWO-DAY PICNIC NEAR HERE

A two-day picnic featuring double header baseball games and dancing will be held Friday and Saturday, July 13 and 14, four and a half miles north of Sikeston and a mile east of Tanner.

Noble Hart, manager of the affair, has announced that a large orchestra from Poplar Bluff will play at dances held both nights of the picnic and that a prize will be awarded a person who is adjudged the best dancer.

Besides the ball games, numerous other kinds of entertainments will be offered during the daytime, and cold drinks, hot fish, ice cream and barbecue will be served.

A committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Tommie Barnett and Bert Jackson.

15,000 Witness Great Two-Day Celebration

Sikeston business men closed their shops Wednesday and joined with persons living all over Southeast Missouri to witness the huge air circus which members of the board of aeronautics, public-spirited citizens, and owners and pilots of airplanes had prepared for them.

A crowd estimated at 15,000 persons saw the stunts, formation flights, contests, fireworks, and style show which were features of the celebration, and a hundred men, under the direction of officials who managed the affair, guided traffic in and out of the airport so well that there was a remarkable absence of congestion during both days.

While all over the country accidents, as always, punctuated Fourth of July celebrations, the two-day ceremony here was completed without a single tragedy. This record was established, according to members of the city board of aeronautics, largely because of the public address system which was purchased especially for the occasion by Harry Young and was operated by him. The system, board men said, not only served admirably for announcing events, broadcasting speeches, introducing participants in the style show, and calling persons to designated parts of the field, but served, in a manner far more effective than any which could possibly be used by police officers, to prevent accidents.

The field was in splendid condition, and all day people at the celebration looked upward to see many of the thirty-two planes of ficially registered carrying passengers on trips over the district and to watch the seven ships of the Missouri National Guard fly in various formations for a highlight of the whole program. They also saw E. Z. Newsom, Jr., of Kennett, stunt flying in his Stinson junior and Charles Swartz rising in the air under his old-fashioned balloon, doing trapeze acts before he cut his parachute and fell to the field.

Late Wednesday afternoon, Wm. Grahl made a parachute leap from a Commandaire ship piloted by J. A. Bomar of Kennett, landing on the airport directly in front of the spectators. Earlier in the afternoon, four negroes hastily ate sacks of popcorn, then ran to the northeast part of the field, where they leaped in waiting planes and were carried to Miner Switch. After circling the Miner warehouse, the planes sped back and landed on the field so that the negroes could run back to a goal designated near the judges' stand.

Before a large display of aerial rockets and bombs which were set off late Wednesday evening, the style show was held on an improvised platform. A well-arranged program, including dance and song numbers given between the showing of morning, street, sport and evening dresses, was presented with beauty and precision. At the conclusion of the display, three young women participants from out-of-town who were chosen as the best models, were each given a dress of their own selection, from those shown, by officials of the Buckner-Ragsdale Company here, sponsors of the show. The winners, in order of their ranking, are Harriette Judge of New Madrid. (Continued on Page 8)

Twenty-Seven Sent To Big Spring CCC Camp

Twenty-seven young men, nineteen of them representatives to the CCC camp which has been established at Big Spring State Park near Van Buren as part of the federal government's drought relief program, left Scott County Monday for a six-months' stay at the camp.

The county allotment was set at twenty boys, all members of families now on the direct relief roll, but eight additional ones were chosen as alternates.

The following young men from separate communities of Scott reported at the park at 10 o'clock Monday morning: Benton, representative, Arnold Brooks, alternates, Willard McClain and Jesse W. Teague; Blodgett, representative, Fred Wyatt, alternate A. J. Austin; Chaffee, representatives, Paul Watson, Ervin Alwood, and Ray Golightly, alternates, Charles Hale and John Cheek; Commerce, representative, Ernest Johnson; Crowder, representative, Price Marshall; Forney, representative, Carol Odum and Loran Wooley; Illinois, representatives, Albert Schwitz and Moore Haw; Nicholson; Morley, representative, Elmer Daugherty, alternate, George Foster; Oran, representatives, Willis McCane, Gerald Lyne and Paul Kittle, alternates, Romyne Halter and Rufus Long; Perkins, representative, Henry Bumgardner; Sikeston, representatives, Denver Crawford and Edgar Byrd; Vanduser, representative, Norman Summers.

Loses Three Fingers When Car Turns Over

Mrs. Ruth Wagner of Chaffee suffered the virtual loss of three fingers of her right hand Monday when a Dodge automobile driven by Charles Harrington of Sikeston left the pavement of Highway 25 north of Jackson and turned over several times. The fingers were severed near the first joints. Harrington sustained bruises, and other passengers in the car suffered minor injuries. Mrs. Ruth Russell of Chaffee, cuts on her lower limbs, and Allen Wade of Oran, abrasions on the side of his head.

After the four were taken into a physician's office in Jackson by passing motorists and were treated, they returned to their homes.

Red Cross Instruction Is Termed Invaluable

One hundred and forty persons drowned in the United States each week, according to a report issued recently by officials of the mid-western area of the National Red Cross organization. The estimated total fatalities from drowning in a year is 7400, a figure which has increased by a 1000 from 1925 to 1932.

The largest number of deaths by drowning, the report continues, occurs in the age groups below 35; the greatest percentage is between the men of from 15 to 19 years and the next greatest between 25 and 34 years. The loss in wages and for medical assistance and overhead insurance during 1932 has been estimated at two billion dollars.

The Red Cross Life Saving instruction courses emphasize not only methods of rescue and resuscitation, the report states, but also the dangers of swimming in hazardous ponds, pools, and creeks where there is no supervision; in swimming alone; and in the attempted rescue of the drowning by any other than one qualified to perform a rescue.

There are nearly a half-million life savers in this country. More than 1300 Red Cross chapters are conducting life saving programs in their counties. Organized in 1914, the Red Cross life saving service has grown to tremendous proportions from a membership of one. Other great national organizations, such as the Boy Scouts and the "Y's", closely co-operate with the Red Cross in promoting life saving.

While the tremendous expansion of paved roads, the building of hundreds of new swimming pools, and the increased attractiveness of resorts mean progress, they nevertheless have greatly increased the possibility of drownings. The Red Cross is vigorously pushing its training of community leadership for first aid and life saving.

Local Golfers Have Sixth Straight Victory

Sikeston 24-Dexter 8

Sikeston's golf team, after two losses to Blytheville, Ark., got back into winning form and made short work of Dexter—their nearest competitor in the Southeast Missouri League—on the local grounds Sunday afternoon. Because a rain fell just before the match started and made the sand greens fast and hard to putt on, the scores Sunday were higher than usual. Sonny Lee with a 75 was low shooter for Sikeston. M. Sialer, of Dexter, with a 75 was low shooter for the visitors. Fred Smith of Dexter with a 76, and Pete Medley and L. M. Stallcup with 77s were next in scoring honors. George Sisler of Dexter and Peg Mahew and George Kirk of Sikeston were the only other shooters able to tour the 18 holes under 80. Dexter brought only 13 players for this match, so quite a number of Sikeston's players were not matched.

An effort is being made to secure a match with Cape Girardeau for Sunday. Cape Girardeau is not in the Southeast Missouri League but has a fairly strong team. Two matches will be arranged with them during the present season.

Scores Sunday were as follows: Sikeston players named first.

MAGIC IN A NAME

Since the Associated Press and Mr. Wallhausen have been busy cataloging death recently—Death rides in the cooling breezes, Death is a marble, Death is a sack of potatoes—another figure may be added to the list: Death is a joke.

Near Hayti, Willie Byrd, a 22-year-old hitchhiker of Peach Orchard, Mo., leaped from a moving car when he was frightened by Boyd Pruett, a Caruthersville salesman.

In jest, Pruett introduced himself as John Dillinger when he allowed the lad to ride with him, and Byrd, terrified, declined to wait until the car could be stopped before he left it.

The youth was treated by a Hayti physician and was taken to the home of relatives in Paragould, Ark. There he died.

Newsboy Photo Wins Art Club Award

That ever-popular and colorful figure, the great American newsboy, was elevated to a new dignity by the recent action of the Art Directors Club at its annual exhibit of advertising art, in awarding its honor medal to this lively photograph of a typical newsboy.

In competition with all the professional beauties, male and female, who have decorated the advertising pages for the past year, this wholesome-looking youngster was singled out by the Jury of Awards. This photograph from real life snapped on the run as the boy sped down the street crying his papers was voted the best in its class.

The illustration was made for the Mergenthaler Linotype Company and used by it in advertising Excelsior type, a new type face developed to give better legibility in newspapers.

A child has got to be mighty smart when they are as "sharp as the butt end of a bee", and that was a compliment paid to a youngster in our presence the other morning.

What Is This World Coming To? is an old saying and the marriage of Samuel Wallace, Jr., and Gertrude Schubeck, in their nakedness, by a so-called preacher draped in a leopard skin, was about the limit. The whole damn bunch should have been tarred and feathered. Anyway, how do you reckon that preacher kept his mind on the ceremony.

The President is off on his long sea trip to Porto Rico, Panama, Hawaii, and way stations. Here's hoping the trip will do him good and after watching the hula hula girls on the beaches of the Sandwich Islands, he will return to Washington full of vigor.

"It's a Damned Lie"

During a night session which was part of a long, torrid, and continuous—with the exception of short periods for meals—twelve-hour day in the Cape Girardeau circuit court in the trial of Otto Menz, charged with complicity in the murder December 7 of Frank Roseme, Sheriff Joe Anderson sat on the witness stand for nearly an hour answering questions and cross-questions.

At last J. Grant Frye, a defense attorney, asked the officer, "Isn't it a fact that during the Edith Menz trial your wife sat in the back of the court room and took notes of the testimony and then turned them over to the State's witnesses who had not testified?"

The sheriff looked at Frye angrily. "It's a damned lie", he said.

Judge Robert L. Cope, who was presiding at the trial, decided that he could not permit such strong, frank language. He fined the offender his witness fee and mileage for the day, a total of $4.70.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

THIS week is the week for the home canning of pineapple or for making preserves of pineapple with navel oranges, strawberries, rhubarb, or combination of these. All are cheap and plentiful but this is the year's peak of the pineapple season.

Ring cherries are moderately plentiful and low priced. Red raspberries are in market. Bananas are especially fine and cheap. The California Valencia orange season is beginning as the Florida season tapers off. Both honeydew melons and cantaloupes are generally available.

Lettuce is scarce and high but vegetables suitable for salads, cabbage, spring spinach, carrots and tomatoes, are plentiful. Green peas and asparagus are particularly good and cheap.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following menus.

Low Cost Dinner

Swiss Steak with Tomatoes and Onions
Boiled Potatoes
Bread and Butter
Tapioca Cream
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner

Baked Ham with Bananas
Baked Potatoes Asparagus on Toast
Bread and Butter
Pineapple Sherbet
Coffee

Very Special Dinner

Bouillon
Jellied Chicken
Green Peas
Sliced Tomato Salad

fuse to kill any of them when they find them. They have evidence from many sources that they are among the best to destroy rats and other pests. In many cases they have killed them to find in their tubular stomach a mole. Sometimes they have found as many as two moles. One man, in speaking to us about the snake he killed, said he found the snake had a mole trapped and was in the act of devouring it, and when he had dispatched the snake opened it and released another mole that had been swallowed. We have always been rather hostile to the snakes and whenever encountered would do our best to kill them. From this on, unless they bother us, we are going to permit them to go on their way and destroy all of the mice, rats and moles they can find. —Vandalia Leader.

Back in 1908 a tramp chose to cook his supper on a ledge of coal projecting to the surface near Matheson, Colo. The coal deposit was ignited and the fire has been smouldering ever since, defying all efforts to extinguish it. Six weeks ago, the United States Biological Survey sent 14 men to dig a trench 30 feet deep and 30 feet wide around an area of about 4 acres in which the coal is burning. This job has been completed and the next step will be to reduce the "island" with dynamite in the hope that the smouldering fire will be made accessible to fire-fighting equipment.

The sheriff looked at Frye angrily. "It's a damned lie", he said.

CURSES WERE COMMON IN OLDEN TIMES

The curse of a Pariah's tomb is today spoken of with awe as something superior and extra-singular in malevolent power. But the Egyptians were no more given to concocting curses than many other people, and there is no reason for singling them out, according to Dr. George S. Duncan, professor of Egyptology at the American university.

Dr. Duncan has made a survey of curses in Egypt, Babylonia and Israel, and he reported the results recently before the American Oriental society, meeting in Philadelphia.

There are 195 curse verses in the Bible, mostly in the old testament. Dr. Duncan has counted them. Again and again Bible characters went up to a mountaintop, to be near the sources of power, and from that high place called down wrath of heaven on evil doers. Gerizim and Ebal, two peaks, came to be associated with such rites. Gerizim was a mountain for blessing, and Ebal for curse.

Curses were common in Babylonia, reported Dr. Duncan. It was customary to put curses on landmarks and boundary lines, so that anyone who interfered with them would be punished. There were no fences, but the people believed that one who broke the property laws would be visited by sickness or other misfortune, as a result of the curse. The curse was depended on to work, whether the law actually caught the offender or not.

In medieval England, said Dr. Duncan, the clergy went into the fields and invoked blessings on those who moved or otherwise transgressed the boundaries. Centuries later Shakespeare wrote 167 passages dealing with the live topic of curses, and had one put on his own tomb.

And has modern man outgrown his faith in curses as a means to getting what he wants? Far from it. In Pennsylvania a boy shoots a woman because, for seven years, he says, she hexed him and cast evil spell. An Egyptian Pharaoh could learn a few pointers from a modern session of hex doctors, right here in America.—Science Service.

BAD HUSBANDS CAN BE GOOD

By Helen Rowland

An open-handed racketeer, a pleasant-tempered kidnaper or even a nice, genial bank robber may be a "good husband" (as so many of their gun-moll wives have testified) while the most upright and virtuous man in your community may be just a matrimonial headache. Carrying a gun in one pocket doesn't prevent a thoughtful man from remembering to bring the little woman a diamond bracelet or a couple of alligator pears in the other pocket.

Nobody can tell any woman just what combination of qualities will make a good husband—for her. Because the whole success of a marriage depends on the team work! And unless a man and a woman are gauged to do team work—unless each understands where the other is heading and can keep the same pace, any marriage is hard pulling.

The trouble with most marriages, which end in Mexico or Reno, is too much "rugged individuality". Too much personal independence—and too little co-operation. Too much self-expression—and too little team work!

What you need, for happiness in marriage is not a "model husband" or a paragon of all the virtues, but a good running mate!

MRS. G. MOORE GREER TO ENTERTAIN WOMEN VISITORS AT STATE FAIR

As hostess at the Women's Building on the Missouri State fair grounds during the week of the fair, August 11 to 18, Mrs. G. Moore Greer will provide for the comfort and entertainment of the exposition's women visitors.

The Woman's Building, which, according to Charles W. Green, secretary of the State Fair Association, has been designed expressly for the convenience of women, will be used exclusively by them this year.

In 1933 and previously, Mrs. Greer said, members of the fair's personnel slept in the structure, but this summer, in addition to herself, only the superintendent of the educational department and her two judges and possibly the superintendent of the administration dining hall will remain in the building.

Early in the week on which the fair opens, Mrs. Greer will go to Sedalia to visit friends. Then by August 11 she will move into a room with bath on the second floor of the woman's building, all of which she will manage with the exception of the basement, where children's health contests are held. Throughout the week, she said, she will spend her time talking with women visitors, answering questions, and doing numerous other things just as she would if she were entertaining guests in her own home.

Mrs. Greer, who has lived in Sikeston for eighteen years, is eminently fitted for this position, which has been given to a resident of Southeast Missouri for the first time in the history of the fair.

She is corresponding secretary of the State organization of the United Daughter of the Confederacy and a member of the Nathaniel Watkins Chapter of the U. D. C. here. As an accomplished musician she was one of the organizers of the Apollo Group, and she has been a member of the Woman's Club since she came here to live. In all of these organizations, Mrs. Greer has been an active worker and office holder.

Before her graduation in dramatic arts from Christian College in Columbia, Mrs. Greer was an athlete and as a basketball player was awarded the distinction of being declared the star forward in Missouri.

She expects to enjoy her work at the State fair, she said, and will be delighted to see all of her Southeast Missouri friends.

CHAPTER X

FOREWORD

Lord Rexford refuses all Mary's efforts toward a reconciliation and Sylvia's arrival in London with a gay crowd does not help matters. Mary, hurt at her husband's manner, goes off to a gay club with her sister and her friends. Rexford follows her and says there is but one solution — divorce.

Lady Riversleigh saw at once that something tragic had happened when Mary returned to the bar and said simply that Philip had gone.

"Well, now, that's fine," she said. "A home party is impending — we are all going down to Riversleigh Hall, and you're the one thing needed to make it a wow."

"But, I can't, Aunt Hetty, Philip —"

"Don't throw that stand-offish nephew of mine in my face. You're coming—that's all."

Mary, feeling her world had fallen to pieces around her, was too exhausted in spirit to protest. She would have wished that Tommy Trent was not of the party. Still, what difference could it make? She had told him they could never be anything but friends. He had not allowed any wound of the heart—or what is often more important — any hurt to his pride, to stand between him and all he could do to save her marriage.

Perhaps it all might have been different if it had not been for Tommy's kindness during the following days. If he had been hilarious, if he had tried to make love to her, if he had even mentioned Cannes, she would have been on her guard. Un-

do I love you that all I want is for you to be happy."

He meant it, deeply. And it was, of all the things he might have said, the very worst thing he could said. Gently, he helped her from the low chair and together they went up the stairs and down to the corridors to the distant, old wing where her room was. They stood a minute, without speaking, at the door. Then suddenly—neither of them could remember afterward just how it came about—she was in his arms. They went in and closed the door.

It was a little after midnight when some one smelled the smoke. There was a wild scramble when the alarm was given and in a few minutes, guests and servants were in the garden. They had not waited to dress, but had thrown coats or bathrobes — anything which came to hand first—over their night clothes.

It had seemed as if the fire had been conquered, when some one said sparks were flying toward the old wing. Aunt Hetty gasped.

"The old wing! Mary is there—she wanted to be off by herself—probably, at that distance, she hadn't heard! Quick—"

She ran toward the house and several of the guests went with her. They banged on the door.

"Don't speak," cautioned Tommy.

"Don't let them hear a sound."

"Mary, Mary!" screamed Aunt Hetty. "Come out. The house is on fire!"

"My God!" said Tommy, as Mary started for the door. "If only—"

"I know, Tommy dear," said Mary. "But it doesn't matter any more."

She opened the door.

"Thank God, you are all right!" said Aunt Hetty, throwing her arms

Don't Stew This Summer

DON'T stew over the stove this summer. After the cold winter we've just been through the summer season is bound to be long and hot, and besides, stewing over the stove has become quite unnecessary. But if you don't stew over the stove, we can hear many housewives ironically asking, what shall we stew over—the ice box? The answer to that is: "No. Don't stew anywhere. For all your stewing has been done or is being done for you in the big commercial canneries which now dot the country."

In other words, when you make your food plans for this summer, whether you take the children to the seashore or the mountains, or just stay quietly in your own home, include in them a plentiful supply of canned foods. If fresh vegetables are at hand, have some of them, too, of course, but if they have to be shipped any great distance to you, or the best ones are being saved for the city markets, you will find it far safer (and cooler) to use canned foods.

Good Milk Essential Good milk is essential, wherever you go, and nowadays you can always have it. If there are no cows in your neighborhood whose health has been tested and certified by Government experts (be sure to ascertain this fact for the sake of the children), take along your own milk in the form of the dried, evaporated or condensed product, for all of these come from certified cows. Un-sweetened evaporated milk is now more and more widely used for babies, and we have the authority of leading pediatricians that from the nutritional standpoint it is the full equivalent of pasteurized or boiled whole cow's milk. This makes it now possible to take even the littlest babies anywhere you want to go.

What are the canned vegetables you should have on hand or have shipped to you as you used them in order to escape that stewing which we recommended that you should avoid? The main ones, of course, are tomatoes, corn, peas and beans, but you should also include spinach for the children (and that's where you save a lot of weary work of preparation), and you'll find some asparagus for salads and beets and carrots good to have on hand.

Fruits and Fish You can't go wrong in providing for a supply of the principal fruits and canned fruit juices for summer drinks. The principal fruits are peaches, pears, pineapple and apricots, but you should also remember that the best apple sauce you have ever tasted comes in cans. Think it over. Has all the apple sauce you ever made been uniformly good? The sauce that comes in cans is made of apples especially grown for that purpose, and is uniform in blend and taste.

As for fish, canned codfish, mackerel, salmon and tuna fish are all tasty and valuable for their iodine content, and what would you do on picnics without any sardines?

Your Time Is Free

With such an assortment of canned foods, either taken along or ordered sent to you at convenient intervals, you will be able to spend your time outdoors in the sun and get a tan instead of getting paler and paler simmering and stewing over a stove. You will have time to play with your children and be a companion to them, for sports and reading and all the outdoor joys of summer. Doesn't this simple plan sound rather worth while?

To Make It Easier, Still If it does, here's a last suggestion to make your summer still easier. Clip out the following recipe, and take it along with you, too.

Tuna Fish and Vegetable Pie Make a white sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup milk and the liquor from an 8-ounce can of peas and carrots, and season to taste. Add the peas and carrots and the contents, flaked, of a 7-ounce can of tuna fish, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Make some baking powder biscuit dough, using one-half cup flour, and cover the top with this dough in one piece or else cut into tiny biscuits. Bake in a hot oven until the biscuits are well browned. This recipe serves four, and costs only about forty-two cents.

You COULD "Grease It" With SALT PORK But Your Car NEEDS the Protection of Genuine Alemite-ing

Some motorists continue to have their cars "greased" merely because there doesn't seem to be any dramatic difference between "greasing" and the use of Alemite Lubricants.

But the dramatics come later! When expensive repair bills come in—due to inefficient "greasing"—there is no drama all over the place! And no comedy in it, either, for when the bank roll is heavily touched even the careless buyer of "bargain greasing" sets up a moan. Alemite Lubricants are developed for the Alemite High Pressure Lubrication System built into your car by the engineers who designed it. There are also Alemite Lubricants for EVERY OTHER LUBRICANT DEMAND of your car.

You get Genuine Alemite Lubricants ONLY under the BRAND NAME—"Alemite!"

Alemite Lubricants ARE "lubricants"—not "greases". For they are far more than mere "greases". Each one is especially made for a special lubrication NEED on your car. Each is compounded with far greater margins of lubrication safety even than the most rigid specifications of automotive lubrication authorities.

Alemite Service is a vital necessity for fine performance and freedom from repair bills with the high speeds and flexibility in driving of the modern motor car.

Alemite-ing means serving your car with the Special Alemite Lubricants it requires—by means of specially designed "guns" or "compressors" which force IN the fresh Alemite Lubricants as they force OUT the old. Alemite Service ALSO provides for ALL the other lubrication demands of the modern motor car.

To be SURE of the highest type of lubrication service known to the modern motor world, you must get it at the sign of the Big, Yellow Alemite "A".

TAKE NO CHANCES! Have your car served with GENUINE ALEMITE LUBRICANTS—NOT "GREASED"—EVERY 500 MILES!

Addresses Delivered at Official Field Dedication

At 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Skeston municipal airport was officially presented to the city by J. J. Miller of Illinois, formerly chairman of Scott County's CWA committee, and was officially received by Dr. G. W. H. Presnell, the mayor. R. E. Bailey, a prominent Skeston attorney, presided at the presentation, and many of the city's outstanding men who have been active in effecting the finished airport, sat on a platform from which the speeches were made.

The addresses are printed below:

"As chairman of your Scott County Civic Works Administration committee, it is my pleasure to address you at this time," Mr. Miller said.

The CWA in Scott County has spent $100,000 since the first of last December and the people on the relief roll have received grocery orders to the amount of $40,000 to which was added 10,000 pounds of surplus commodities consisting of foodstuffs.

"That is what the United States government has done for us in Scott County. Some of this money is that which was used to build this airport. It is one of the largest in the State and this committee is proud of being able to say that it was through our efforts the project was made possible. We folk in the north end of the county are proud that Scott County has such an airport even though it had to be in the south end of the County."

"Now, in behalf of the Scott County CWA Committee, I present this airport to the City of Skeston and leave it to Dr. Presnell, your mayor, to take care of it."

"I thank you."

Dr. Presnell then stood before the microphone to accept the field.

"It is with both pride and pleasure that I accept this airport on behalf of Skeston, the Biggest Little City in America. It is a worthy addition to a worthy City. It is an achievement of which not only Skeston, but all Southeast Missouri should justly feel proud. And where, better, in all Southeast Missouri could this great airport have been placed, than in Skeston, the hub of Southeast Missouri? Being a Skestonian, I might be accused of bragging, were it not for the fact that everyone here, every one in Southeast Missouri, and for that matter people everywhere, know that Skeston, with her beautiful homes, her magnificent churches, her splendid schools, her great manufacturing industries, her central location with three great national highways and two great railways crossing her, is a veritable Eden, set like a gleaming jewel in the very center of the Modern Promised Land. We feel, and we know that our neighbors feel, that no better choice for the airport could have been made."

"And we are proud of our new airport. Why did we want an airport for Southeast Missouri? Because the mode of transportation of the future is undoubtedly the airplane. America is becoming, every hour, more air-minded, and if America is air-minded, so must Southeast Missouri be air-minded. We can't wait for the parade to pass before we joint it; we find our place somewhere near the lead; we do things."

"As Mr. Miller told you, the CWA spent $100,000 in Scott County, a part of which paid for the airport. Mr. Miller also says that he and his committee are proud of their efforts in obtaining this project, and we say to Mr. Miller and the committee that we are proud of them. Thank you, Mr. Miller and your CWA committee. We all wish to extend your thanks to the local aeronautics board for its untiring effort in consummating this airport. This board is composed of Clay Mitchell, representing the Lions Club; Earl Johnson, representing the American Legion; J. E. Harper, representing the Chamber of Commerce; Hubert Boyer, representing the City Council; and the judges of our county court, Hon. Leonard McMullin, Hon. John Heebe, and Hon. Peter Gosche. Skeston thanks you, Scott County thanks you, all Southeast Missouri thanks you today."

"Not only do we thank those who worked to get the airport here, but we pay a grateful tribute to those men who have pioneered in the work of making air travel safe and serviceable—these men who have given of their energy, their time, their money, and many of them, their lives. Brave men—daring

FOUR-MAN TEAM CHOSEN FOR TRI-STATE TOURNEY

Sonny Lee, Orville Lumsden, Hester Alexander and George Kirk will comprise a four-man team which will be entered in a tri-state golf tournament to be held at the Blytheville, Ark. country club July 15 and 16. Mr. Kirk announced this morning.

The men, three of them Skeston's junior star golfers, will play 36 holes on both days of the meet, in competition with other outstanding golfers of Missouri, Arkansas, and Tennessee for trophies worth more than $200 which will be awarded medalists in the qualifying round, for first and second places in each of three flights, and for the winning team of four.

Besides serving as a qualifying round, the first 36 holes will also count in the score total. Then on July 16, the field will be divided into three flights: championship, composed of players whose cards are below 160, the second flight of those carding 161 to 172 inclusive, and the third flight of those shooting above 172.

The four-man team competitions will be based on medal scores for 36 holes, according to tournament officials, and may be played on either day of the contest.

The Treasury reported it had spent $57,485,744 for unrefined scrap gold and $49,771,000 for newly mined gold from January 31 to June 2. The gold purchased by the mints and assay offices, is used as a backing for the currency under the gold reserve act of 1934.

Malted Milk

MILK is good for young and old. Some young people fail to appreciate what is good for them, however, and that is what caused the invention of malted milk. In a recent issue of Hygeia, published by the American Medical Association, Mrs. Doris W. McCray says of this healthful beverage:

"The true purpose of malted milk is to add flavor and nutritive value to fresh whole milk or to skimmed milk in order to make it a more pleasing beverage. Evaporated milk, diluted to the proportions of fresh milk and flavored with malted milk, makes a nutritious beverage. An appetizing hot beverage is made by using water, when milk is not available, and a larger amount of malted milk. The normal child should have his daily quart of fresh milk, or its equivalent in other forms of milk, such as dried milk and malted milk used in beverages, puddings and soups, regardless of the use of other nutritious additions to the milk and to the diet.

Can Be Used Alone

"Dry malted milk is delicious when it is sprinkled over breakfast cereal. One tablespoonful of the plain malted milk added to a cupful of hot tomato bouillon imparts a delicate characteristic flavor. Malted milk added to coffee, tea or postum is delicious. In camp, it may temporarily take the place of fresh cream.

"A plain baked or boiled custard is delicious when it is flavored with malted milk, and rice pudding may be flavored with malted milk and filled with dates for variation."

These are only a few extracts from this interesting article which tells much more about the malted milks which have received the Seal of Acceptance of the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association

A Busy Woman

HERE'S a woman who occasionally "dines" on a can of tomato juice from the ice-box. Her name is Claudine MacDonald, and she is the director of the Woman's Radio Revue, a featured daytime program over the National Broadcasting Company network. Those who have not given the subject thought might be surprised to realize the vast amount of executive and detail work that goes into making a variety program such as this.

Mrs. MacDonald is one of the busiest women in the country. Not only must she procure a famous guest speaker for each of the five days a week that the Woman's Radio Revue is on the air, but she must also build a vocal and instrumental program around each speaker.

No Time to Eat

"Some days I don't even have time to eat," says this only woman director of the National Broadcasting Company. "Often I have a meal sent in from a nearby restaurant, but there are many times when I get nothing. On those evenings, when I get home from the studio too tired to think of stopping anywhere for a bite, I 'dine' on a can of tomato juice from the ice-box. Then I get a few hours' sleep, and go back to work."

Tomato juice is a tasty drink which has won its way to popular favor through its succulence and flavor as well as because of its health-giving qualities. But did you know that you can have it either hot or cold, served as either a cocktail or as bouillon, and that it is now making its appearance in these forms at many formal luncheons and dinners, though not as the entire meal as is sometimes the case with this very busy woman?

Notice of Final Settlement

Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, Executrix of the estate of J. L. Chiles, deceased, will make final settlement of his accounts with said estate as such Executrix at the next term of the Probate Court of Scott County, Missouri, to be held at Benton in said county, on the 6th day of August, A. D. 1934.

MAGGIE BREEN CHILES, Executrix

Acquiring a Bigger Sense of Things

OBSERVING the state of affairs in the common walks of life, one must admit that many of the troubles which beset mankind arise from the small sense of things entertained by the majority of individuals. We find people living in cramped and narrow circumstances, from which they make no effort to extricate themselves, because their sense of home has not expanded beyond limited ideals. Others regard as tedious and monotonous their tasks, because they have as yet only very little grasp of their native spiritual capabilities. Then, what a very small sense has mankind in general of what constitutes supply! We regard money as our supply, believing that without it we cannot live. But how limited, unstable, and fluctuating is the value of money, and how poor its dividends for those who cling to it as if it were a vital necessity!

How narrow, too, is our sense of life! We acquiesce in the generally accepted belief that life is a race, and that the goal is the runner of death. Nevertheless, this false sense of things need no longer be accepted as real and inevitable, for as everything has its starting point in thought, the mental expansion can begin at once. As a bird's powerful wings bear it upward, so right thought will carry the thinker far when it is turned in the right direction. But if thought is kept chained down to a material basis, where it has no room to spread, expand, and soar, it follows that the thinker will remain on the same level. Our new sense is to free our thought, lift it above the contemplation of life as merely physical, and set it winging into contemplation of the great spiritual truths about God and man to be found in the Bible. For it is a fact that all the little-nesses and limitations common to human experience arise from a false sense of God and man who is made in His likeness.

Even though the Bible depicts God as loving, good, wise, and unchangeable, many who have desired to know Him have not learned to feel Him as a mighty power and presence in their lives. Yet this right sense should be realized, for Christ Jesus said, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also;" and the might; works which he did were accomplished through his complete understanding of God as the ever present Father, caring for His children.

Who ever had so boundless a sense of things as Jesus? Even at the age of twelve he felt his God-given ability to talk and reason about spiritual things. Later, at the beginning of his ministry, the Master turned the water into wine at the marriage feast. The human needs of five thousand hungry people in a desert place did not dismay him, and the food set before them was abundant. When called upon to heal the sick and raise the dead, he did not bestow upon them only partial recovery, but health, activity, and freedom. And to all who follow in this way, Christ Jesus offers for all time full and complete salvation and life without end.

To Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, confidence in God as the vital power, the sovereign presence, the Father-Mother Mind, outweighed all other influences in her life; and through her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she has placed this beautiful, practical, and satisfying sense of God within the reach of all mankind.

On page 520 of Science and Health we find this profound statement: "Unfathomable Mind is expressed. The depth, breadth, height, might, majesty, and glory of infinite Love fill all space. That is enough!" As, to the material senses, the sun pours its light and heat upon all the earth, blessing and heartening mankind, so to the spiritual senses of those who gain a right concept of God, comes the glorious assurance of the all-pervading presence and power of the infinite Mind, which is Love, ceaselessly pouring forth its divine ideas for men to recognize and utilize. Goodness, wisdom, purity, loving-kindness, justice, mercy, faith, hope, courage, assurance—all these and every other spiritual quality existing in infinite Mind belong to man by reflection, for he is the idea of God, the expression of God's being.

Let all who find themselves held in cramped and narrow places by the limited sense of things they have hitherto entertained, begin at once to turn thought in the right direction. As the glories of infinite Mind are steadfastly contemplated, their concept of God will grow and enlarge, and with it will come a joyful sense of freedom and power through the spiritual ability to reject the false beliefs of limitation, lack, and discord. One's daily life and occupations will take on nobler outlines. Instead of the dread of helpless old age there will be the confident expectation of added wisdom, harmony, and fruition; and so the ceaseless incoming of Love's spiritual ideas to human consciousness, and their faithful utilization, will be manifested in our experience in abundant supply.—The Christian Science Monitor.

When the Oil Cost Meets the Gas Cost It's time to buy a new CHEVROLET

An "oil burner" is all right for heating a home. But it's not so good for driving on the road. Especially if you're trying to keep your motoring costs down to a respectable figure. It's wise, therefore, to make a little investigation before you buy any low-priced car. Be sure it doesn't have a national reputation for being "the oil burner of the low-price field". For there's nothing quite so embarrassing as to drive into a gas station, and have the attendant always greet you expectantly with: "Another quart of oil?" One reason why Chevrolet is so economical is: Wonderful oil mileage! Chevrolet owners everywhere say: "I never had a drop between changes". Chevrolet is also famous for its low gas consumption. No other full-size car gets so many miles on a gallon as this thrifty six with the overhead valves: The new 1934 Chevrolet!

SEALSKINS!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, June 26 (via Mackay Radio).—This is seal-skinning time in Little America. You should see our blubbery biologists at work—Earle E. Perkins of New Brunswick, N. J.; Paul A. Siple of Erie, Pa., and Alton A. Lindsey of West Newton, Pa. What a mess!

They are very busy preparing seal-skins and that is some job. As I told you before, we have killed 500 seals for the food supply of ourselves and our dogs and the skins of these seals are valuable for various purposes, although they are covered with hair instead of the Arthur Able poking fun at an Emperor penguin at Little America thick fur of northern seals. Already the three biologists have prepared seventeen Weddell and Crabeater seals and still have hundreds to do. They are prepared complete, with head, flippers and tails intact. When we get them back in the States they will be mounted in habitat groups for various museums all over the country.

Fixing up these seals is a very difficult job. Under the skin there is a layer of blubber, or thick goosy fat, to keep the seal warm in this icy climate. Every vestige of this blubber and all flesh must be removed and the bones of the skull and flippers must be cleaned carefully and preserved. Yesterday, for two hours I watched Lindsey at this work. He was literally up to his neck in oily grease from the blubber in spite of his great skill. It was fascinating to watch him. He told me they are going to secure many live Adelle and Emperor penguins in the spring (October) to bring back to zoos in America. They have materials for a large cage on hand and will not have the trouble trying unsuccessfully to keep them in a big hole in the snow that Paul Siple had on the last Expedition. Here's the most interesting thing he told me—they are going to install a big water tank on the Jacob Ruppert for the penguins on the homeward trip. It seems that it is very difficult to transport penguins alive because they must be fed by force—cramping the food down their necks. They cannot bend over to pick up food and can only eat when swimming or diving under water. I didn't know these things before and was greatly interested.

Lindsey told me also that he and Siple and Perkins will prepare many penguin skins for mounting in museums at home and that they have already fixed a great quantity of skins of skua gulls, snowy petrels and Antarctic petrels, which, with the penguins and seals, will allow us to bring back probably the greatest collection of Antarctic fauna ever made available to American students of natural history.

The club lists are still open to membership, without cost, to all people interested in exploration, aviation and adventure. Membership card and free 20¢ by 27½ inch working map of this strange part of the world will be sent to anyone sending name, address and loose 3 cent stamp to me at our American headquarters. Address: Arthur Able, Jr., Little America Aviation and Exploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y. Next week I'll tell you about "Me-teors by Millions!"

CWA SHAFT COMPLETED

From an idea originated some time ago by J. J. Miller, Jack Dolan, and George Arnold, all active CWA supervisors in Scott County, has come the completion of an appreciation of CWA activities here. In a parkway, where a farm-to-market road joins Highway 61 near Ilmo, is an eight-foot granite shaft on which has been placed a bronze plate bearing the names of State and county CWA administrators.

Above the list of names, which is printed below, are the words "In appreciation of CWA".

State staff: Wallace Crossley, Mrs. Tidd Cole and Miss Elizabeth Gissal.

County staff: J. J. Miller, chairman, Z. A. Heisserer, C. D. Matthews, J. A. Young, Roy A. Green, Alvin Papin, secretary, A. C. Barrett, A. D. O., Charles A. Miller, engineer, and J. H. Dolan, re-employment manager.

Ilmo staff: Dr. G. T. Dorris, mayor, E. L. Purcell, chairman, J. A. Gearing, relief, and F. C. Craig. Farnfield staff: Dr. G. S. Cannon, mayor, W. L. Tomlinson and Otto Schoen, relief.

Amell staff: W. M. Welter, mayor, George Arnold, chairman and Andy Blattel, relief.

Kelso staff: Ed Hahn, mayor, J. Schumacker, Ben Drury and Fred Heeb.

SIX ORDINANCES PASSED BY COUNCILMEN MONDAY

Six ordinances were passed and routine business was disposed of at a regular monthly meeting of members of the City Council which was held Monday evening at the City Hall.

One act approved by the aldermen provides for the erection and observation of stop signs on Trotter street at its intersection with south New Madrid Street. The penalty for conviction of violation of this ordinance is set at a fine not less than $1 or more than $100, or imprisonment in jail for ninety days, or both.

The following additional ordinances were also passed: As a protective measure for the city, the municipal airport was leased to W. N. Robinson for the two days of the dedication ceremonies; the name of Ethel avenue was changed to that of East Gladys street; all police officers, including the chief, were instructed to carry firearms and to display their badges while they are on duty; the board of public works was authorized to discontinue service on light and water to customers who fail to pay their bills within ten days after notices are sent them; drivers of automobiles going east and west on Highway 60 must stop at the intersection of that route with Highway 61 at the east edge of town.

The last ordinance, which provides punishments for violation, was passed so that the city may enforce a ruling which is now generally understood because of the presence of the signs at the intersection of the two pavements. Councilmen will probably meet again during July for a special session.

PALM BEACH..like raising a window

Ventilation! Air entering to evaporate body perspiration! That's what you get all summer through the wide-open pores and patented weave of the new Palm Beach.

Wide open because each pore of the cloth is a real little window in itself—with no fringe around the edges—with none of the whiskers or scales (scillia) found on the fibres of wools and worsteds, to catch dust and close the openings. That's why scientific tests show Palm Beach to be many times as porous as other summer fabrics.

Have you been a Palm Beach post-pone all your life? Then let this summer introduce you to its luxurious coolness. It is dirt-repellent, wrinkle-resisting, crease-holding, washable, fully pre-shrunk—and it come in white and many colors. Smartly tailored by GOODALL.

The Chinese have a deep veneration for the idea of a soul and of immortality, a feeling which explains their great respect for the dead and their love of funeral ceremonies. Millions of natives accept "the three religions", Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism, practically as one, each meeting a different want. Confucianism supplies the need of a moral code. Taoism ministers to the superstitious mind, and Buddhism appeals to the mystic element in man. Christianity and Mohamedanism are also well established in China.

HAS LARGE WHEAT YIELD

The 1934 yield on 135 acres of wheat on a farm owned by the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, averaged twenty-seven and a half bushels to an acre, according to L. D. Mange, supervisor of the farm, who believes that no other wheat yield near here will average as much.

The farm, which is located in New Madrid County, southeast of Malden, was successfully operated last year as shown by figures published in the June 22 issue of The Standard.

This year Mr. Mange has harvested a total of 3535 bales of hay from a twenty-eight acre tract of alfalfa and a sixty acre field of clover. The bales, he said, averaged 97 pounds.

9 PEMISCOT COUNTIANS ACCUSED OF TRYING TO DEFAUD GOVERNMENT

Seven residents of Pemiscot County were indicted by a St. Louis federal grand jury Friday on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government by making false statements in applying for crop production and feed and seed loans.

The seven, who are said to have prepared applications for loans which stated they intended to plant various crops on land which was not cleared for cultivation, are A. F. Wheeler, his three sons, H. T. M. P., and Jeff Wheeler, R. W. Wilcut, Alma McCurter and Earl McCurter.

A. F. Wheeler and Huey Michie, also a resident of Pemiscot, were indicted on charges of forging signatures to crop loan checks of large amounts, and Michie and Abie Kushing are accused of conspiracy to defraud by securing

PARMA BOY LOST AT AIRPORT WEDNESDAY

Luther Stephens, fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stephens of Parma, is reported missing after having attended the airport dedication here Wednesday and becoming lost from his companions. Young Stephens came to the city with a crowd of Parma folk on a truck belonging to Claud Moore, also of that place, and in the course of the day became lost from his companions. Members of the party searched diligently for the youth, and failing to find him supposed that he had picked up a ride with someone else and returned home without him. Up to 9 o'clock Wednesday morning the boy had not as yet returned home. According to his father's description the boy is of medium build, weighing about 100 pounds, has light brown hair, blue eyes and field. Then they turned north and faded in the sky.

The celebration started Tuesday afternoon, when at 1 o'clock, town whistles announced that the National Guard ships were arriving from Cape Girardeau, where they had been met by commercial pilots already in Sikeston. Flying in perfect formation the planes circled the city several times before landing at the airport. After performing once more Tuesday, the national guard ships from the field at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, going up close together and executing numerous feats over the

When an automobile going 60 miles per hour hits an object and is stopped within three feet, the blow would be enough to lift 40 similar cars three feet in height. High speeds cause some accidents and always make the results more serious. Just to indicate how much more serious accidents are likely to be when rates of speed are high, when an automobile going 20 miles per hour hits an object and is stopped within three feet, the blow would only be sufficient to lift four similar cars three feet in height.

Among members of the fleet, which was commanded by Major P. R. Love, were Captains W. B. Wimmer and E. H. Kaggel; Lieutenants Z. Zadanoff, Ray Kutterer, James H. Hedges and C. C.
